Socially Constructed School Violence Kimberly M. Williams, 2005 Socially Constructed School Violence Lessons from the Field argues that the way we understand what constitutes violence is socially constructed and that people from different social locations that is gender race social class geographic location and so on will have varied perspectives on what is violent Based on ethnographic work at an urban alternative school for students expelled for bringing weapons to school and an affluent suburban school eighteen miles away this book describes various ways violence can be constructed Specifically this book discusses personal and structural forms of violence that students teachers administrators and other school staff encounter Using powerful examples from the ethnographic analysis this book describes some of the valuable lessons learned about how we can work to prevent school violence

Making Choices for Multicultural Education Christine E. Sleeter, Carl A. Grant, 2008-10-13 Focusing on what multicultural education actually looks like in the classroom Making Choices for Multicultural Education Sixth Edition encourages all to examine the latest theoretical perspectives on multicultural education as well as personal beliefs about classroom diversity The authors show how schools reflect broad patterns of institutional discrimination and then offer five different approaches to addressing such problems in the classroom

Men's Work Paul Kivel, 2010-06-04 In his ground breaking work author Paul Kivel helps men confront the political social and personal forces that generate and reward misogyny hatred anger and violent behavior Sexual harassment child abuse incest rape murder war it's impossible today to hear a news report and not be informed of violent acts perpetrated by men Acknowledging that there are no easy answers to the problem of male violence particularly in a world that seems to thrive on aggression and physical force Men's Work reaches straight to its root causes In his ground breaking work author Paul Kivel helps men confront the political social and personal forces that generate and reward misogyny hatred anger and violent behavior Combining years of personal study and reflection with his work with men in the Oakland Men's Project Men's Work presents an innovative and workable approach to stopping male violence Kivel shows men how to reclaim the power and responsibility needed to unlearn the lessons of control and aggression Paul Kivel is a nationally known expert on men's issues Through his work at the Oakland Men's Project he helps men confront and change violent behaviors and teaches alternatives to violence in their relationships He also trains teachers therapists probation officers and agency staff who work with men exploring such topics as male female relationships alternatives to violence family violence and sexual assault Kivel resides in Oakland California Resources in Education, 1985 Peace Education, 3d ed. Ian M. Harris, Mary Lee Morrison, 2012-12-13 Now in its third edition Peace Education provides a comprehensive approach to educating for a just and sustainable future It begins with religious and historical trends that have molded our understanding of peace and then presents a variety of ways to practice peace education in schools and communities and explains how it can motivate students The teaching and practice of peace education provides a basis of valuable knowledge about resolving conflicts and transforming violence without the use of force Instructors considering this book for use in a course may request an examination copy here Understanding Geographical and Environmental Education Michael C. Williams, 1995-12-07 These papers aim to provide a substantial review of the literature pertaining to a comprehensive range of traditional and contemporary research paradigms and research methods The book is designed as a reference work for novice researchers in the fields of geographical and environmental education
