Foraging and Farming David R. Harris, Gordon C. Hillman, 2014-10-30 This book is one of a series of more than 20 volumes resulting from the World Archaeological Congress September 1986 attempting to bring together not only archaeologists and anthropologists from many parts of the world as well as academics from contingent disciplines but also non academics from a wide range of cultural backgrounds This volume develops a new approach to plant exploitation and early agriculture in a worldwide comparative context It modifies the conceptual dichotomy between hunter gatherers and farmers viewing human exploitation of plant resources as a global evolutionary process which incorporated the beginnings of cultivation and crop domestication The studies throughout the book come from a worldwide range of geographical contexts from the Andes to China and from Australia to the Upper Mid West of North America This work is of interest to anthropologists archaeologists botanists and geographers Originally published 1989 The Transition from Foraging to

Farming and the Origin of Agriculture in China Tracey Lie Dan Lu, 1999 This book explores the origins of agriculture in China It includes archaeological data from the terminal Pleistocene to the early Holocene found in the Yellow and Yangzi River valleys botanical data on wild millet and wild rice data on palaeoclimates and palaeoenvironments and comparative ethnographic data Lithic evidence indicates cultural continuity through this period and archaeological discoveries illustrate that wild cereal exploitation was practised prior to the emergence of agriculture As the dry and cold palaeoclimate forced prehistoric people to search for new sources of food intensive cereal exploitation might have resulted in a sedentary way of life Increasing population size triggered attempts to increase the productivity of food It is also argued that the invention of pottery was prompted by the need to boil cereal grains As cereals became staple foods demands for increased production triggered cereal cultivation and domestication Annual Report New Jersey.  publisher s description European Prehistory Sarunas Milisauskas,2012-12-06 Sarunas Milisauskas 1 1 INTRODUCTION
 The purpose of this book is four fold to introduce English speaking students and scholars to some of the outstanding archaeological research that has been done in Europe in recent years to integrate this research into an anthropological frame of reference to address episodes of culture change such as the transition to farming the origin of complex societies and the origin of urbanism and to provide an overview of European prehistory from the earliest appearance of humans to the rise of the Roman empire In 1978 the Academic Press published my book European Prehistory which typically for that period emphasized cultural evolution culture process technology environment and economy To produce a new version and an up to date prehistory of Europe I have invited contributions from specialists in the Palaeolithic Mesolithic Bronze and Iron Ages Thus while this version of European Prehistory is a new book however it still incorporates some data from the 1978 version particularly in The Present Environment and Neolithic chapters Like its predecessor this edition is structured around selected general topics such as technology trade settlement warfare and ritual Going Over Alasdair Whittle,Vicki Cummings,2007-11-22 This wide ranging collection of essays covers the transformation from Mesolithic hunter gatherers to Neolithic farmers It offers a comprehensive and authoritative treatment by leading specialists and provides the best available overview of this fundamental change in human society Grains and Forage Crops for Northern Wisconsin Ransom Asa
