The Meat Racket Christopher Leonard, 2015-02-24 In The Meat Racket investigative reporter Christopher Leonard delivers the first ever account of how a handful of companies have seized the nation s meat supply He shows how they built a system that puts farmers on the edge of bankruptcy charges high prices to consumers and returns the industry to the shape it had in the 1900s before the meat monopolists were broken up At the dawn of the 21st century the greatest capitalist country in the world has an oligarchy controlling much of the food we eat and a high tech sharecropping system to make that possible These companies are even able to raise meat prices for consumers while pushing down the price they pay to farmers We know that it takes big companies to bring meat to the American table What The Meat Racket shows is that this industrial system is rigged against all of us From publisher description The Ethics and Economics of Agrifood Competition Harvey S. James, Jr.,2013-03-19 This edited volume presents ethical and economic analyses of agrifood competition By systematically examining fairness and openness in agricultural markets it seeks to answer the question of whether there is adequate competition in the agrifood industry and whether the system is fair to all participants It outlines ethical and economic principles important for understanding agrifood competition presents arguments for and against consolidation globalization and the integration of agrifood industries and looks at the implications of globalization on the nature of competition in specific agricultural contexts Industrializing Organisms Susan Schrepfer,Philip Scranton,2004-03 First Published in 2004 Routledge is an imprint of Taylor Francis an informa company Globalising Food David Goodman,Michael Watts,2013-01-11 In an increasingly global world societies are being provisioned from a bewildering array of sources as new countries and new food commodities are drawn into international markets Globalising Food provides an innovative contribution to the area of political economy of agriculture food and consumption through a revealing investigation of the globalisation and restructuring of localised agricultural sectors and food systems The book draws on new theoretical perspectives and wide ranging case studies from Britain the USA India South Africa New Zealand and Latin America The key themes addresses range from giant multinational food corporations rural industrialisation and World Bank policies to the regulation of pollution labour relations urban food politics and environmental sustainability Globalising Food offers important insights into the problems consequences and limits of the industrialisation of agriculture and the provisioning of food in a global world as we approach the new millenium Hill Folks Brooks Blevins,2003-04-03 The Ozark region located in northern Arkansas and southern Missouri has long been the domain of the folklorist and the travel writer a circumstance that has helped shroud its history in stereotype and misunderstanding With Hill Folks Brooks Blevins offers the first in depth historical treatment of the Arkansas Ozarks He traces the region s history from the early nineteenth century through the end of the twentieth century and in the process examines the creation and perpetuation of conflicting images of the area mostly by non Ozarkers Covering a wide range of Ozark social life Blevins examines the development of agriculture the rise and fall of extractive industries the settlement of the countryside and the decline of rural communities in and out migration and the emergence of the tourist industry in the region His richly textured account demonstrates that the Arkansas Ozark region has never been as monolithic or homogenous as its chroniclers have suggested From the earliest days of white settlement Blevins says distinct subregions within the area have followed their own unique patterns of historical and socioeconomic development Hill Folks sketches a portrait of a place far more nuanced than the timeless arcadia pictured on travel brochures or the backward and deliberately unprogressive region depicted in stereotype

We Just Keep Running the Line LaGuana Gray,2014-11-05 The poultry processing industry in El Dorado Arkansas was an economic powerhouse in the latter half of the twentieth century It was the largest employer in the interconnected region of South Arkansas and North Louisiana surrounding El Dorado and the fates of many related companies and farms depended on its continued financial success We Just Keep Running the Line is the story of the rise of the poultry processing industry in El Dorado and the labor force composed primarily of black women upon which it came to rely At a time when agricultural jobs were in decline and Louisiana stood at the forefront of rising anti welfare sentiment much of the work available in the area went to men driving women into less attractive labor intensive jobs LaGuana Gray argues that the justification for placing African American women in the lowest paying and most dangerous of these jobs like poultry processing derives from longstanding mischaracterizations of black women by those in power In evaluating the perception of black women as less than white women less feminine less moral less deserving of social assistance and less invested in their families and communities well being Gray illuminates the often exploitative nature of southern labor the growth of the agribusiness model of food production and the role of women of color in such food industries Using collected oral histories to allow marginalized women of color to tell their own stories and to contest and reshape narratives commonly used against them We Just Keep Running the Line explores the physical and psychological toll this work took on black women analyzing their survival strategies and their fight to retain their humanity in an exploitative industry
