Proverbs, Robby Soetanto, 2008-04-15 With climate change and the development of property on flood plains the flooding of buildings has become a considerable problem both for property owners and their insurers This book based on extensive research provides guidance on how to assess and repair flood damaged properties

Flood Hazards Jessica Lamond, Colin Booth, Felix Hammond, David Proverbs, 2011-07-28 A 360 degree view of the response to flood risk As major flooding events around the world show the impact of flooding on the built environment can cause widespread chaos These flood events form part of a wider pattern of increasing flood frequency coupled with increased vulnerability of the built environment to flood hazard Flood risk can unite or divide communities and the responses to potential risk can range from denial to perfect adaptation Drawing on the experience of communities and experts Flood Hazards Impacts and Responses for the Built Environment offers guidance on managing urban flooding and flood risk It brings together a diversity of viewpoints and experiences on flood impacts and responses from leading academics flood restoration specialists emergency responders architects planning consultants insurers policymakers and community representatives By including the perspective of the community and the views of households and businesses at risk this volume makes a unique contribution to the literature on flood management The chapter organization loosely corresponds to the phases of the disaster management cycle covering emergency preparation and response recovery repair and reconstruction and mitigation and adaptation Contributors examine the types of impacts and discuss forecasting and emergency warning They describe processes and good practice in recovery of flood damaged property from the perspectives of the insurance industry restorers and loss adjusters The book also deals with business continuity land use planning property level and infrastructure protection and urban drainage looking at the regulation and design of the built environment as one way to reduce risk A section on community response to flooding sheds light on the experiences of flood affected families Written for students practitioners and researchers in flood risk management as well as for professionals who may encounter flood related issues in the course of their work this cross disciplinary book makes a valuable contribution towards designing a future built environment that is more resilient to flood risk Flood Recovery, Innovation and Response IV D. Proverbs, C. A. Brebbia, 2014-06-18 Flooding is a global phenomenon that claims numerous lives worldwide each year Set up to promote research into this area of study this book contains the proceedings of the 4th International Conference on Flood Recovery Innovation and Response When flooding occurs in populated areas it can cause substantial damage to property as well as threatening human life In addition many more people must endure the homelessness upset and disruption that are left in the wake of floods The increased frequency of flooding in the last few years coupled with climate change predictions and urban development suggest that these statistics are set to worsen in the future Apart from the physical damage to buildings contents and loss of life which are the most obvious impacts of floods upon households other more indirect losses are often overlooked These indirect and intangible impacts are generally associated with disruption to normal life as well as longer term health issues including stress related illness Flooding represents a major barrier to the alleviation of poverty in many parts of the developing world where vulnerable communities are often exposed to sudden and life threatening events This book covers a wide range of technical and management topics related to flooding and its impacts on communities property and people These include Flood Modelling Risk Assessment Flood Management Considering Blue Green Approaches to Flood Risk Management Property level Flooding and Health Consequences State of the art Flooding damage Survey and Assessment Emergency Preparedness and Response Adaptation to Flood Risk Towards the Implementation of the New Urban Agenda Bernhard Müller, Hiroyuki Shimizu, 2017-11-24 This book looks at the New Urban Agenda and prospects of its implementation In 2016 the New Urban Agenda was endorsed by the General Assembly of the United Nations after having been adopted by the United Nations Conference on Housing and Sustainable Urban Development Habitat III in Quito Ecuador Together with the Sustainable Development Goals it provides a comprehensive and ambitious roadmap for global debate and action related to sustainable urbanisation during the coming decades As mature economies and ageing societies Japan and Germany can make considerable contributions to the implementation of the New Urban Agenda Both countries share a number of similar challenges for environmentally sustainable and resilient urban development under conditions of social change Furthermore they have vast experience in actively promoting urban transformation towards a more sustainable urban future At the same time the authors are making a contribution towards implementing the New Urban Agenda Other countries may build up on the experience provided and the 20 examples described in this book The work is based on a longstanding cooperation between the Graduate School of Environmental Studies of the Nagoya University Japan the Leibniz Institute of Ecological Urban and Regional Development Germany and the Technische Universität Dresden Germany

Flood Recovery, Innovation and Response II D. De Wrachien, 2010 One third of the annual natural disasters and economic losses and more than half of the associated victims are flood related A burgeoning global population and growing wealth particularly in the last two or three decades have increased the risk and the demand for flood protection These features together with climate change predictions and urban development are affecting the way flood risk is managed Knowledge and scientific tools play a role of paramount importance in the strain of coping with flooding problems along with capacity building in the context of political and administrative frameworks Therefore governments need to establish clear institutional financial and social mechanisms and processes for flood risk management in order to ensure the safety of people and property and thereby contribute to flood defence prevention and recovery This volume contains papers presented at the second International Conference on Flood Recovery Innovation and Response The conference provides a forum for researchers academics and practitioners actively involved in improving and interchanging knowledge and expertise in a wide range of technical and management issues related to flooding and its devastating effects The scientific topics presented at the conference on Flood Recovery Innovation and Response 2010 included Flood Risk Analysis Flood Risk Management Urban Flood Management Flood Forecasting Risk Assessment and Decision Making Flood Case Studies Community Resilience to Flooding

Design Economics for the Built Environment Herbert Robinson, Barry Symonds, Barry Gilbertson, Ben Ilozor, 2015-03-26 The drive towards environmentally friendly buildings and infrastructure has led to a growing interest in providing design solutions underpinned by the core principles of sustainability to balance economic social and environmental factors Design Economics for the Built Environment Impact of sustainability on project evaluation presents new directions reflecting the need to recognise the impact of climate change and the importance of sustainability in project evaluation The aim is to provide a new approach to understanding design economics in the context of the changing policy environment legislative and regulatory framework and increasing economic environmental and social pressure as result of the sustainability agenda The book follows a structured approach from theories and principles in the earlier chapters to the practical applications and emerging techniques focusing on value and social economic and environmental considerations in making design decisions It starts with the policy context building on various theories and principles such as capital cost value of design and resource based theories the new rules of measurement NRM to explore cost planning the relationship between height and costs key socio economic and environmental variables for design appraisal eco cost value ratio EVR whole life theory and the treatment of carbon emission as external costs productivity and efficiency fiscal drivers and legal framework for carbon reduction procurement and allocation of risks in contracts Case studies practical examples and frameworks throughout reinforce theories and principles and relate them to current practice The book is essential reading for postgraduate students in architecture building and quantity surveying and is also a valuable resource for academics consultants and policy makers in the built environment

German Annual of Spatial Research and Policy 2010 Bernhard Müller, 2010-11-27 Resilience is increasingly becoming a catchword in current discussions about urban and regional development While there has been a strong research focus on sustainability there is a lack of understanding of the processes and factors that make cities and regions more vulnerable and others more resilient for example when dealing with climate change demographic decline and ageing as well as economic crises The German Annual of Spatial Research and Policy 2010 sheds some light on this by discussing examples of how actors deal with change On the one hand concepts are described and analysed which are oriented towards increasing urban regional resilience for example regarding energy consumption climate change and urban decline Moreover institutional aspects are discussed On the other hand barriers for using the concept of resilience in planning are described and suggestions are made about how to deal with these barriers in strategic planning
