Flora Graeca Story Sibthorp Bauer And Hawkins In The Levant:

The Flora Graeca Story H.W. Lack, David Mabberley, 1999 This is the first scholarly treatise that tells the remarkable story behind the making of the Flora Graeca the monumental collection of illustrations and descriptions of plants in Greece Cyprus and Turkey First described by Dioscorides in the sixth century the flora and fauna of the Levant was neglected until the gentlemen botanists naturalists John Sibthorp and John Hawkins accompanied by illustrator Ferdinand Bauer travelled there Bauer produced a class of paintings superior to anything of their kind in existence then and his work was to become one of the most valuable treasures of the University of Oxford Based on the original diaries letters and specimens this fine work is illustrated with the original illustrations which are still housed at the Department of Plant Sciences there The Flora

Graeca Story H. Walter Lack, D. J. Mabberley, 2023 This is the first scholarly treatise that tells the remarkable story behind the making of the Flora Graeca the monumental collection of drawings and descriptions of plants in mainland Greece and the Balkan Peninsula The Flora Graeca Story Hans Walter Lack, 1999 Travel and Classical Antiquities in

Nineteenth-Century Ottoman Greece Alexia Petsalis-Diomidis, 2024-12-09 Western travel and collecting classical antiquities in the nineteenth century informed European understandings of Greece's past and present and enriched private collections and museums Travel and collecting have typically been studied separately by literary scholars historians of archaeology and historians of the Ottoman Empire and modern Greece Similarly publications have largely prioritised evidence from and about elite social groups This book breaks new ground through its interdisciplinary approach its insistence on the interweaving of the phenomena of travel and collecting and its emphasis on marginalised perspectives Contributors drawn from art history classics history of architecture Ottoman history and modern Greek history foreground diversity and small scale engagements with the landscape and material past of Ottoman Greece The book explores the perspectives of both foreign travellers and local inhabitants through case studies keeping a sharp focus on ethnicity and social status Diaries visual art and rich archival material are analysed often from a novel perspective to give voice to a range of people including English servants Albanian peasants an illiterate Greek fighter and the Ottoman Sultan The result is a micro cultural history of travel and classical collecting which expands existing narratives As such it changes the simplistic dichotomy between collecting as pillaging or saving and nuances the important current debate surrounding repatriation Travel and Classical Antiquities in Nineteenth Century Ottoman Greece addresses scholars in the areas of classical reception studies classical archaeology material culture studies nineteenth century studies Ottoman studies and modern Greek studies It will also appeal to a broader audience of people interested in travel writing the history of archaeology and the history of Greece Tome 2: Plants. Botany, Gardens, ›Materia medica‹, Ethnopharmacology Steven M. Oberhelman, 2025-07-21 This three volume set of essays is dedicated to Alain Touwaide known for his far reaching investigations in fields such as ancient medicine botany pharmacy texts and manuscripts the classical tradition translation the history of science ethnopharmacology and plant therapies The essays penned by 80 international scholars and researchers and written in six languages are grouped into three broad categories Manuscripts Plants and Remedies to reflect Alain s main areas of research Each category is broken into subgroups such as manuscripts texts and science botany gardens materia medica pharmacy drugs archaeology medical traditions and continuity of scientific knowledge in the East and West The papers reach across many fields of scholarship science and medicine and are necessarily and fundamentally trans disciplinary trans chronological and trans geographic These volumes are not so much a Festschrift as an approach to Alain s work through many disciplines and methods a discussion of the current status of each field and an opening into new perspectives

The Magnificent Flora Graeca Stephen A. Harris,2007 This publication summarises the story of the Flora Graeca enterprise profiling the leading characters John Sibthorp and his celebrated illustrator Ferdinand Bauer and charting their eastern Mediterranean adventures

The Beauty of the Flower Stephen A. Harris,2023-08-25 Blooming with rare archival images the story of scientific botanical illustrations over nearly seven hundred years In a world flooded with images designed to create memories validate perceptions and influence others botanical illustration is about something much more focused creating technically accurate depictions of plants Reproductions of centuries old botanical illustrations frequently adorn greeting cards pottery and advertising to promote heritage or generate income yet their art is scientific intended to record display and transmit scientific data The Beauty of the Flower tells the backstory of these images showing us how scientific botanical illustrations are collaborations among artists scientists and publishers It explores the evolution and interchanges of these illustrations since the mid fifteenth century how they have been used to communicate scientific ideas about plants and how views of botanical imagery change Featuring unique images rarely seen outside of specialist literature this book reveals the fascinating stories behind these remarkable illustrations

A Cultural History of Plants in the Nineteenth Century David Mabberley,2023-12-14 A Cultural History of Plants in the Nineteenth Century covers the period from 1800 to 1920 a time of astonishing growth in industrialization urbanization migration population growth colonial possessions and developments in scientific knowledge As European modes of civilization and cultivation were exported worldwide botanical study was revolutionized through the work of Charles Darwin and many others and the new science of biology was born based on cells nuclei and molecules As Darwinism took hold plants came to be seen as a way of thinking about the connectivity of nature and life itself The 6 volume set of the Cultural History of Plants presents the first comprehensive history of the uses and meanings of plants from prehistory to today The themes covered in each volume are plants as staple foods plants as luxury foods trade and exploration plant technology and science plants and medicine plants in culture plants as natural ornaments the representation of plants David Mabberley is Emeritus Fellow at Wadham College University of Oxford UK Emeritus Professor at the University of Leiden The Netherlands and Adjunct Professor at Macquarie University Australia Volume 5 in the Cultural History of Plants set General Editors Annette Giesecke University of Delaware USA and David Mabberley

University of Oxford UK Servants Abroad Richard Ansell, 2024-11-18 Servants Abroad presents the journals of four British domestic servants who travelled to continental Europe in the eighteenth century With a full introduction these texts overturn the standard view of the Grand Tour by revealing the experiences and impressions of the majority who travelled in service

Draughtsmen, Botanists and Nature: Kärin Nickelsen, 2006-09-21 This book is based on a doctoral thesis submitted to the University of Bern in the summer of 2002 Research on the thesis was made possible through a grant provided by the Swiss National Science Foundation SNF from 2000 to 2002 for a project on the history and epistemology of scientific illustrations Project No 1152 059499 Gerd Grahn headed this programme at the University of Bern and made my reworking of the thesis into a book in English possible He also provided the funding for the services of a professional copy editor Margareta Simons Bern The findings presented in this book are closely related to the general results of the SNF project which are published elsewhere the source material can be found consulted in an earlier monograph and in an electronic edition on the internet

the theoretical approach will be more thoroughly investigated in a textbook on the analysis of scientific illustrations In addition this study has made use of theoretical concepts developed by Gerd Grahn which in their latest form have yet to be published these concern primarily the model concept discussed in Chapter 3 The criteria put forward for optimizing scientific illustrations which are dealt with in Chapter 7 were also originally proposed by Gerd Grahn they were refined and elaborated in the SNF project Some of the material on the copying links presented in this book was first published in 2 an article in Studies in History and Philosophy of Science Part C while some of the material in Chapter 5 on the hand colouring of illustration was 3 published prior to this book in the Annals of Science

I was able to access source material for this study from several archives and 4 institutions Most of the images that I examined originated from copies held in the University Library Göttingen while the remaining illustrations came 1 See Nickelsen 2000 Nickelsen Grahn 2001 and Grahn et al 2001 In the Herbarium Maura C. Flannery, 2023-05-30 How herbaria illuminate the past and future of plant science Collections of preserved plant specimens known as herbaria have existed for nearly five centuries These pressed and labeled plants have been essential resources for scientists allowing them to describe and differentiate species and to document and research plant changes and biodiversity over time including changes related to climate Maura C Flannery tells the history of herbaria from the earliest collections belonging to such advocates of the technique as sixteenth century botanist Luca Ghini to the collections of poets politicians and painters and to the digitization of these precious specimens today She charts the growth of herbaria during the Age of Exploration the development of classification systems to organize the collections and herbaria's indispensable role in the tracking of climate change and molecular evolution Herbaria also have historical aesthetic cultural and ethnobotanical value these preserved plants can be linked to the Indigenous peoples who used them the collectors who sought them out and the scientists who studied them This book testifies to the central role of herbaria in the history of plant study and to their continued value not only to biologists but to entirely new users as well gardeners artists students and citizen scientists High Places Denis Cosgrove, Veronica Della Dora, 2008-10-30 High mountains polar expanses volcanic peaks are exciting and special environments 13 leading international geographers explore different aspects of these environments disorientation exploration native knowledge polar research This is the first book to do this High places be they mountain peaks or the vast expanses of the polar latitudes have always captured the human imagination Inaccessible extreme they are commonly invested with awe and reverence as places of physical challenge intense experience Increasingly they are also treated as unique locations for science High Places explores the fascinating geographies of these special environments revealing how senses are challenged objectivities exposed cultural assumptions laid bare Whether walking the summit of Pico de Orizaba the fourth highest volcano in the northern hemisphere recounting the tale of the American explorer Charles Wilkes charged with immoral mapping in Antarctica or exploring the 200 000 year old Greenland ice core the international contributors reveal the richness and significance of these unique locations Embracing Europe Asia North and Central America Antarctica and the Arctic High Places will interest geographers historians of science and those interested in polar mountain studies landscape culture and environment

Minoan Archaeology Sarah Cappel, Ute Güntel-Maschek, Diamantis Panagiotopoulos, 2015-10-14 More than 100 years ago Sir Arthur Evans spade made the first cut into the earth above the now well known Palace at Knossos His research saw the birth of a new discipline Minoan Archaeology The present volume aim to outline current trends and prospects of this scientific field Botanical Icons Andrew Griebeler, 2024-02-28 A richly illustrated account of how premodern botanical illustrations document evolving knowledge about plants and the ways they were studied in the past This book traces the history of botanical illustration in the Mediterranean from antiquity to the early modern period By examining Greek Latin and Arabic botanical inquiry in this early era Andrew Griebeler shows how diverse and sophisticated modes of plant depiction emerged and ultimately gave rise to practices now recognized as central to modern botanical illustration The author draws on centuries of remarkable and varied documentation from across Europe and the Mediterranean Lavishly illustrated Botanical Icons marshals ample evidence for a dynamic and critical tradition of botanical inquiry and nature observation in the late antique and medieval Mediterranean The author reveals that many of the critical practices characteristic of modern botanical illustrations began in premodern manuscript culture Consequently he demonstrates that the distinctions between pre and early modern botanical illustration center more on the advent of print the expansion of collections and documentation and the narrowing of the range of accepted forms of illustration than on the invention of critical and observational practices exclusive to modernity Griebeler s emphasis on continuity intercultural collaboration and the gradual transformation of Mediterranean traditions of critical botanical illustration persuasively counters previously prevalent narratives of rupture and Western European exceptionalism in the histories of art and science In Search of Agamemnon Nektarios Karadimas, Dudley Moore, Edward Rowlands, 2014-03-17 Although many books focus on the fascinating story of Heinrich Schliemann little has been written on Mycenae before his excavations This book therefore fills this gap It looks at the English speaking pioneers who visited the citadel at Mycenae before Schliemann providing additional biographic references in the footnotes and bibliography and associated sources The book s primary purpose is to bring back to life the thoughts of these pioneers on Mycenae It is also a reflection on dating theories of the site during the nineteenth century At that time the general consensus concerning the beginning of the Greek world was the classical civilisation of the fifth century BC This was not the view of many of these travellers The ancients too had a fascination with Mycenae The Homeric tales of Agamemnon King of Mycenae led to popular sixth and fifth century BC plays from the likes of Aeschylus Sophocles and Euripides But what did these ancient writers and later travellers such as Pausanias actually see Finally there is a need to be reminded of some of the pioneer travellers to Mycenae and their descriptions of the Lion Gate citadel and the Treasury of Atreus as they are of particular historical interest Not only that but some of these observations are pure poetry and a delight to read

Sunflowers Stephen A. Harris,2018-06-15 From iconic paintings by Vincent van Gogh to their much spat seeds at baseball games the massive golden blossoms of sunflowers have become a part of our literary and visual cultures and daily lives inspiring artists and poets and used by advertisers to promote countless products But sunflowers are only the most recognizable members of the world s largest family of plants Asteraceae which includes lettuce chrysanthemums asters dahlias and weeds And in this book Stephen A Harris unearths the extraordinary history of this entire sunflower bouquet Unraveling the interplay between human cultures and the biology of these spectacular blooms over the last six thousand years Sunflowers explores our persistent fascination with this family and how our uses of the plants have changed over millennia Found in almost all habitats from the driest deserts and tallest mountains to grasslands and urban wastelands the sunflower family includes more than 32 000 species It produces hugely popular and economically valuable ornamental flowers as well as familiar flavorings such as tarragon and artemesia and its members are also used in the production of antimalarial drugs artificial sweeteners insecticide and fish poisons Illustrated with many rarely seen images of the sunflower family this beautiful volume sheds surprising new light on these familiar sunniest of flowers

Reading the World Edwin D. Rose,2025-03-18 In the eighteenth and nineteenth centuries a period that marked the emergence of a global modernity educated landowners or gentlemen dominated the development of British natural history utilizing networks of trade and empire to inventory nature and understand events across the world Specimens ranging from a Welsh bittern to the plants of Botany Bay were collected recorded and classified while books were produced in London and copies distributed and used across Britain Continental Europe the Pacific Asia and the Americas Natural history connected a diverse range of individuals from European landowners to Polynesian priests incorporating distributing synthesizing and appropriating information collected on a global scale In Reading the World Edwin D Rose positions books natural history specimens and people in a close cycle of literary production and consumption His book reveals new aspects of scientific practice and the specific roles of individuals employed to collect synthesize and distribute knowledge reevaluating Joseph Banks's and Daniel Solander's investigations during James Cook's Endeavour voyage to the Pacific Uncovering the range of skills involved in knowledge production Rose expands our understanding of natural history as a cyclical process from the initial collection and identification of specimens to the formal publication of descriptions to the eventual printing of sources
