Albert Luthuli Robert Trent Vinson, 2018-08-09 In an excellent addition to the Ohio Short Histories of Africa series Robert Trent Vinson recovers the important but largely forgotten story of Albert Luthuli Africa's first Nobel Peace Prize winner and president of the African National Congress from 1952 to 1967 One of the most respected African leaders Luthuli linked South African antiapartheid politics with other movements becoming South Africa's leading advocate of Mahatma Gandhi's nonviolent civil disobedience techniques He also framed apartheid as a crime against humanity and thus linked South African antiapartheid struggles with international human rights campaigns Unlike previous studies this book places Luthuli and the South African antiapartheid struggle in new global contexts and aspects of Luthuli's leadership that were not previously publicly known Vinson is the first to use new archival evidence numerous oral interviews and personal memoirs to reveal that Luthuli privately supported sabotage as an additional strategy to end apartheid This multifaceted portrait will be indispensable to students of African history and politics and nonviolence movements worldwide Struggles in Southern Africa for Survival and Equality H. Peace, Decolonization, and the Practice of Solidarity Rob Skinner, 2023-10-05 This book shows that the connected histories of decolonization and globalization concern the practices of individuals and movements as much as they do the ideologies of states institutions and organizations Viewing decolonization through non state activist practices and setting anti colonial solidarity in the context of the methods of contemporary global peace movements it argues that seemingly marginal histories can illuminate aspects of the end of empire that are not readily apparent in studies centred on state diplomacy and nationalist movements Focusing on a group of British and American activists including the pacifist campaigner A J Muste the anti apartheid priest Michael Scott and the civil rights organiser Bayard Rustin Skinner explores connected global histories of anti nuclear peace campaigns anti colonialism and decolonization to illuminate new perspectives on the end of empire and the Cold War Studying a failed attempt to infiltrate the French atom bomb test site in southern Algeria and a mass march across the border between Tanganyika and Northern Rhodesia that never took place these stories provide valuable insights into the interactions between local and global scales of historical experience In presenting these histories this book demonstrates how global and transnational histories can challenge and disrupt rather than reinforce hierarchies of power and privileges In doing so it also contributes to ongoing debates surrounding the nature of decolonization as a historical phenomenon by focusing on the practices of activism that shaped and were shaped by the political and intellectual structures of decolonization

Literacy, Literature and Identity Rahma Al-Mahrooqi, Paul A. Scanlon, 2012-12-05 Modern humanities scholarship presents a scene of intriguing change A leading figure like Professor Eagleton moves suddenly from theory to a fascination with culture while still wrestling with literature s meaning and function Creative non fiction becomes fashionable while life writings retain a very wide readership Language professionals meanwhile ask themselves if teaching an alien tongue can be done without teaching its associated culture and what this might mean for individual and group identity itself now an area of rising academic concern Crucially the present volume looks at how these currents and concerns coalesce It shows how literature operating through language oral and written both shapes and reveals the identities of individuals and societies With a truly global reach it draws evidence from diverse contexts and environments The struggles of women in North America female portrayal in Middle Eastern proverbs the response to identity challenge in West East and Southern Africa including the extraordinary complexity of black South African experience and the literary assertions of New Zealand s Maoris they are all here in this multi faceted contribution to modern cultural linguistic and literary scholarship

Believers Richard Elphick, 2012-10-03 From the beginning of the nineteenth century through to 1960 Protestant missionaries were the most important intermediaries between South Africa's ruling white minority and its black majority The Equality of Believers reconfigures the narrative of race in South Africa by exploring the pivotal role played by these missionaries and their teachings in shaping that nation's history The missionaries articulated a universalist and egalitarian ideology derived from New Testament teachings that rebuked the racial hierarchies endemic to South African society Yet white settlers the churches closely tied to them and even many missionaries evaded or subverted these ideas In the early years of settlement the white minority justified its supremacy by equating Christianity with white racial identity Later they adopted segregated churches for blacks and whites followed by segregationist laws blocking blacks access to prosperity and citizenship and eventually by the ambitious plan of social engineering that was apartheid Providing historical context reaching back to 1652 Elphick concentrates on the era of industrialization segregation and the beginnings of apartheid in the first half of the twentieth century The most ambitious work yet from this renowned historian Elphick's book reveals the deep religious roots of racial ideas and initiatives that have so profoundly shaped the history of South Africa The Dynamics of
