Language, Education and Nation-building P. Sercombe,R. Tupas,2014-09-02 This volume tracks the complex relationships between language education and nation building in Southeast Asia focusing on how language policies have been used by states and governments as instruments of control assimilation and empowerment Leading scholars have contributed chapters each representing one of the countries in the region International Bibliography of the Social Sciences ,1994 The IBSS is the essential tool for librarians university departments research institutions and any public or private institution whose work requires access to up to date and comprehensive knowledge of the social sciences A Catalogue of the Collections of Dr. Roy Bruton on Sarawak, Malaysia and on the Sociology of Education ,1995 Malaysia in the World Economy (1824-2011) Azlan Tajuddin,2012-06-14 Does the industrial development of a country entail the democratization of its political system Malaysia in the World Economy examines this theme with regards to Malaysia in the period between 1824 and 2011 Capitalism was first introduced into Malaysia through colonialism specifically to supply Britain with much needed raw materials for its industrial development Aside from economic exploitation colonial rule had also produced a highly unequal and socially distant multicultural society whose multifaceted divisions kept the colonial rulers in supreme authority After independence Britain ensured that Malaysia became a staunch western ally by structuring in a capitalist system specifically helmed by western educated elites through what appeared to be formal democratic institutions In such a system the Malaysian ruling elites have been able to manage the country s democratic processes to its advantage as well as preempt or suppress serious internal challenges to its power often in the name of national stability As a result an increasingly unpopular National Front political coalition has remained in power in the country since 1957 Meanwhile Malaysia s marginal position in the world economy which has maintained its economic subordination to the developed countries of the west and Japan has reproduced the internal social inequities inherited from colonial rule and channeled the largest returns of economic growths into the hands of the country s foreign investors as well as local elites associated with the ruling machinery Over the years however the state has lost some of its political legitimacy in the face of widening social disparities increased ethnic polarization and prevalent corruption This has been made possible by extensive exposures of these issues via new social media and communications technology Hence informational globalization may have begun to empower Malaysians in a new struggle for political reform thereby reconfiguring the balance of power between the state and civil society Unlike other past research Malaysia in the World Economy combines both macro and micro theoretical approaches in critically analyzing the relationship between capitalist development and democratization in Malaysia within a comparative historical and world systemic context Borneo Research Bulletin ,1995 Christian-Muslim Relations
