Bulletin of the American Mathematical Society American Mathematical Society, 1923 Social Work Theory and Ethics Dorothee Hölscher, Richard Hugman, Donna McAuliffe, 2023-03-17 This reference work addresses the ideas that shape social work Much of the social work literature addresses questions of theory and ethics separately so that the body of thought that is represented in social work scholarship and research creates a distinction between them However the differences between these categories of thought can be somewhat arbitrary This volume goes beyond this simple separation of categories Although it recognises that questions of theory and ethics may be addressed distinctly the connections between them can be made evident and drawn out by analysing them alongside each other Social work s use and development of theory can be understood in two complementary ways First theory from the social sciences and other disciplines can be applied for social work second considered systematic examinations of practice have enabled theory to be developed out of social work These different approaches are usually referred to as theory for practice and practice theory The advancement of social work theory occurs often through the interplay between these two dimensions through research and scholarship in the field Similarly social work ethics draw on principles and concepts that have their roots in philosophical inquiry and also involve applied analysis in the particular issues with which social workers engage and their practices in doing so In this way social work contributes to wider debates through advancement of its own perspectives and knowledge gained through practice Social Work Theory and Ethics Ideas in Practice offers a unique approach by bringing together the complementary dimensions of theory with each other and at the same time with ethical research and scholarship It presents an analysis of the ideas of social work in a way that enables connections between them to be identified and explored This reference is essential reading for social work practitioners researchers policy makers academics and students as well as an invaluable resource for universities research institutes government ministries and departments major non governmental organisations and professional associations of social work Optimization and Operations Research W. Sustainable Development - the Cultural Perspective Gerhard Banse, Gordon L. Nelson, Oliver Parodi, 2011 This current volume is a result of the Seventh and Eighth International Forum on Sustainable Technological Development in a Globalizing World The Seventh Forum was held June 9-12 2010 in Berlin The Karlsruhe Institute of Technology hosted the event which was organized around culture and sustainability What we each value as a society as a country in our culture is what we want to protect What is sustainable is only what we value This applies all the more to sustainable development which is planned for long time scales and therefore to go beyond individual sustainable technology solutions as well as economic and political cycles What we hold in high regard is the result of cultural influences Consequently we need cultural change in the sense of sustainable development in order to secure sustainability pathways in the long term The key question arising is whether and how this change can be brought about The following Introduction leads us into the specific discussion At the end of the Seventh Forum participants concluded that more specific case studies would be useful and recommended that the Eighth Forum provide a focus for case studies Since the remainder of the Eighth Forum held March 8-10 2011 in Melbourne Florida focused on Alternative Energy with oral papers not really appropriate as written papers it was decided to include the case studies in combination with those papers from Berlin to provide a holistic discussion of culture and sustainability That is the concept for this volume P 13-14

Minimax Algebra R. A. Cunningham-Green, 1979-02-05 A number of different problems of interest to the operational researcher and the mathematical economist for example certain problems of optimization on graphs and networks of machine scheduling of convex analysis and of approximation theory can be formulated in a convenient way using the algebraic structure R where we may think of R as the extended real number system with the binary combining operations

x y x y defined to be $\max x$ y x y respectively The use of this algebraic structure gives these problems the character of problems of linear algebra or linear operator theory This fact has been independently discovered by a number of people working in various fields and in different notations and the starting point for the present Lecture Notes was the writer's persuasion that the time had arrived to present a unified account of the algebra of linear transformations of spaces of n tuples over R to demonstrate its relevance to operational research and to give solutions to the standard linear algebraic problems which arise e.g. the solution of linear equations exactly or approximately the eigenvector eigenvalue problem and so on Some of this material contains results of hitherto unpublished research carried out by the writer during the years 1970

1977 GERT Networks and the Time-Oriented Evaluation of Projects K. Neumann, U. Steinhardt, 1979-10 Towards the end of the fifties methods for planning scheduling and control of projects were developed on the basis that the evolution of a project can be associated with a special weighted directed graph called activity network In this association the individual activities of the project correspond to the arcs the so called project events beginning or termination of activities correspond to the nodes and the durations of the activities correspond to the weights of the respective arcs of the directed graph 1 Contiguous arcs are assigned to activities which succeed one another immediately The event corresponding to a node occurs exactly at the time at which all activities which are associated with the arcs leading into the node are terminated After the occurrence of an event all those activities are begun which correspond to the arcs emanating from the respective node This implies especially that the evolution of the project has to be uniquely determined beforehand that every activity and every event are realized exactly once during the execution of the project and that feedback corresponding to cycles in the associated network is not permitted Many projects for example most R D projects and projects in the area of production planning do not satisfy the foregoing restrictions Convex Analysis and Its Applications Alfred Auslender, 1977

The Church in the Power of the Spirit Jürgen Moltmann, 1993-09-01 This book which in my opinion is Moltmann's best can be recommended on the basis that it contains challenging and creative insights that can be used by the discriminating reader in the service of church renewal Moltmann represents the theology of liberation at its best and those who wish to know more about this theology would do well to study this creative and searching theologian Donald G Bloesch Christianity Today Moltmann is perhaps unsurpassed among his contemporaries in keenness of insight and rhetorical power Daniel L Migliore Theology Today Moltmann presents a stirring vision which every Christian community could well ponder With a missionary emphasis he seeks to help the reader face the question of the church's identity in the light of the contemporary political economic and social scene Religious Education Monatschrift Fur Hohere Schulen, 1928
