Far East And Australasia 2002

Howard M. Federspiel

Far East And Australasia 2002:

On the Causes of Economic Growth Carlos Sabillon, 2008 In a sweeping review of economic history the author presents the salient facts of booms and slowdowns in the major economies of the world in 50 year intervals and demonstrates the weakness of orthodox theories The only factor that consistently causes growth he shows is centralized support for manufacturing which spurs the creation of new technologies which lead to wealth creation Since the earliest of times human beings have endeavored to uncover the causes of prosperity Step by step Sabillon tests the principal theories on the causes of economic growth against the facts of history Here economic statistics of the world are presented in a rationalized format that allows for comparison across countries and through time with a challenge to those who study them to determine with an open mind what the statistics show and what are the trends beyond cherished theories that suit various political purposes Tested against the historical data textbook ideas and theories consistently come up short Such analyses are highly troubling because they reveal an absence of correlation between theory and reality The data statistics illustrating the development of the world economy during the last several centuries were extracted from economic history and economic history books from publications of the World Bank the Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development the International Monetary Fund the World Trade Organization the United Nations specialized agencies research institutes and country statistical publications and other books and journals Analyzing the data over geography and time Sabillon concludes that contrary to contemporary wisdom left to market forces alone the economy will not and does not flourish Only decisive intervention in support of manufacturing and technological advancement can provide growth This systematic review of history and test of accepted dogma challenges economic theorists to consider one part of the equation of economic policy that has been wiped off the blackboard in today's politically correct debates

World Economic Historical Statistics Carlos Sabillon, 2005 Since the earliest of times human beings have endeavored to uncover the causes of prosperity History is the best tool that society possesses for identifying and analyzing the factors that contribute to economic growth yet economic statistics that lend themselves to comparison are hard to come by Even academics who specialize in individual countries almost never present a set of statistics covering the whole 20th century and for the previous centuries the data is even more chaotic Here for the first time the economic statistics of the world are presented in a rationalized format that allows for an easy comparison across countries and through time Part One analyzes the most relevant ideas and theories that have been considered as causal variables of economic growth It summarizes these ideas pedagogically and tests them against the historical data The results of such analyses are highly troubling because they reveal an absence of correlation between theory and reality Part Two presents a collection of statistics illustrating the development of the world economy during the last centuries The data was extracted from economic history and economic history books from the publications of the World Bank the Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development the International Monetary Fund the World Trade Organization the United Nations specialized agencies research institutes and country statistical publications and other books and journals Analyzing the data over geography and time Sabillon concludes that contrary to contemporary wisdom left to market forces alone the economy will not and does not flourish The factors that cause growth he says still need to be studied with a fresh eye This orderly and consistent presentation of statistics may be just the tool that helps future economic theorists to identify a reliable path to sustained growth This analysis of the long term historical development of the nations of the world is the culmination of a fourteen year research project funded in part by the Swiss National Fund for Scientific Research the Graduate Institute of International Studies in Geneva Switzerland and by the Geneva Business Institute Carlos Sabillon has an advanced degree from the Institute of International Studies Geneva Switzerland in Economic History His book Manufacturing Technology and Economic Growth was published by M E Sharpe Inc 2000 The Far East and Australasia 2002 Europa

Sultans, Shamans, and Saints Howard M. Federspiel,2007-01-31 By the fourteenth century the Islamic faith had spread via maritime trade routes to Southeast Asia where over the next seven hundred years it would have a continuing influence on political life social customs and the development of the arts Sultans Shamans and Saints looks at Islam in Southeast Asia during four major eras its arrival to 1300 the first flowering of Islamic identity 1300 1800 the era of imperialism 1800 1945 and the era of independent nation states 1945 2000 Ranging across the humanities and social sciences this balanced and accessible work emphasizes the historical development of Southeast Asia's accommodation of

Islam and the creation of its distinctive regional character Each chapter opens with a general background summary that places events in the greater Asian Southeast Asian context followed by an overview of prominent ethnic groups political events customs and cultures religious factors and art forms Sultans Shamans and Saints will be of great value to students and researchers specializing in the study of Islam and the comparative study of Muslim societies and culture It will also be useful to those with a world systems approach to the study of history and globalization Minerals Yearbook ,2001

Australia's Forgotten Soldiers in the Empire, 1939-1947 Lee Rippon,2024-08-02 This book explores how Australia managed the prisoner of war issue throughout the Second World War and the immediate post war period It examines how the Australian government responded to the captivity of thousands of Australians in Italy and the detention of an even greater number of Italians in Australia The war it finds created a series of diplomatic and political challenges for belligerent governments including Australia The author contends that Australia s response was guided not only by other pragmatic considerations such as reciprocity the practicalities of war and importantly national interest The Australian government was not the only one to manage its prisoner of war policy in this way By exploring the Australian government s relationship with Britain as part of the British Empire this book clarifies under what circumstances and to what extent Australia sought to assert a level of independence in pursuing its national interest even when that approach did not align with British policy
