The Inspiration Machine Eitan Y. Wilf, 2023-11-27 Explores how creative digital technologies and artificial intelligence are embedded in culture and society In The Inspiration Machine Eitan Y Wilf explores the transformative potentials that digital technology opens up for creative practice through three ethnographic cases two with jazz musicians and one with a group of poets At times dissatisfied with the limitations of human creativity these artists do not turn to computerized algorithms merely to execute their preconceived ideas Rather they approach them as creative partners delegating to them different degrees of agentive control and artistic decision making in the hopes of finding inspiration in their output and thereby expanding their own creative horizons The algorithms these artists develop and use however remain rooted in and haunted by the specific social predicaments and human shortfalls that they were intended to overcome Experiments in the digital thus hold an important lesson although Wilf s interlocutors returned from their adventures with computational creativity with modified novel and enriched capacities and predilections they also gained a renewed appreciation for and at times a desire to re inhabit non digital creativity In examining the potentials and pitfalls of seemingly autonomous digital technologies in the realm of art Wilf shows that computational solutions to the real or imagined insufficiencies of human practice are best developed in relation to rather than away from the social and cultural contexts that gave rise to those insufficiencies in the first place

The Walker Matthew Beaumont,2020-11-10 From Charles Dickens London to today s megacities a fascinating exploration of what urban walking tells us about modern life for fans of Rebecca Solnit Olivia Laing s The Lonely City and literary history A labyrinthine journey into the literature of walking and thinking as seen in the lives and works of Edgar Allan Poe Virginia Woolf Ray Bradbury and other literary greats Guardian There is no such thing as a false step Every time we walk we are going somewhere Especially if we are going nowhere Moving around the modern city is not a way of getting from A to B but of understanding who and where we are In a series of riveting intellectual rambles Matthew Beaumont retraces episodes in the history of the walker since the mid 19th century From Dickens s insomniac night rambles to restless excursions through the faceless monuments of today s neoliberal city the act of walking is one of self discovery and self escape of disappearances and secret subversions Pacing stride for stride alongside literary amblers and thinkers such as Edgar Allan Poe Andr Breton H G Wells Virginia Woolf Jean Rhys and Ray Bradbury Beaumont explores the relationship between the metropolis and its pedestrian life Through these writings Beaumont asks Can you get lost in a crowd What are the consequences of using your smartphone in the street What differentiates the nocturnal metropolis from the city of daylight What connects walking philosophy and the big toe And can we save the city or ourselves by taking to the pavement
