Motion Picture Herald, 1927      Library of Congress Catalog: Motion Pictures and Filmstrips Library of Congress, 1968      Slow Motion Andie Miller, 2010

Slow Motion is a collection of non fiction stories essays and interviews about walking The collection has been written over a period of six years and so the book has become something of a documentary project witnessing transformation in South Africa through the eyes of pedestrians across the economic racial and age spectrum The book could be described as documenting recent history Though it inevitably looks at the issue of crime and how we have moved from a race based to a class based society and pedestrians of all colours continue to be marginalised and thought of as second class citizens in an increasingly autocratic society it is essentially an optimistic book It tells the stories of South Africans and visitors who have chosen to reclaim the streets from predators and traffic While the focus is primarily on Johannesburg several of the stories are about Cape Town contrasting the experience of walking in these two cities Other international cities such as Los Angeles Paris London and Mumbai are also visited along the way The style of the book is such that while it can be opened anywhere and each story can be read and enjoyed on its own a bedside table book the stories are interlinked as people's paths inevitably cross There is a bigger story at play as well The band of pedestrians includes writers artists political activists disabled people dogs and their owners Walk for Life members Jews on the Sabbath domestic workers refugees babies learning to walk and even a golfer and a caddy The purpose of the book is both to entertain and inform readers Publisher's website

The Exhibitor as Producer Richard Abel, 2024-12-28 This open access book seeks answers to a series of questions about the little studied subject of prologues or theatrical presentations in American movie theaters from the late 1910s to the mid 1920s How did prologues emerge out of prior practices Who were the exhibitors most involved What characteristics would come to define prologues How widespread did they become not only in metropolitan palace cinemas but also in movie theaters in mid sized cities and even small towns If they generally created an atmosphere that complimented or harmonized with the feature films could they also be what at the time was called contrastive Who were the performers in these theatrical presentations Were prologues ever described in ads and audience responses as a program's main attraction and to what effect The book comprises five chapters and up to a hundred photographs of prologue stage settings Moreover supplementing each chapter is one or more relevant trade press documents Overall the chapters construct a set of practices and typologies that came to define the theatrical presentations that typically preceded the feature films They also advance this argument the variety format of combined stage and screen performance in movie theaters has a longer and unexpectedly revealing history than usually assumed In short an exhibitor would have a certain degree of creativity in his/her programming which in turn could strongly impact an audience's movie going experience

Rebeca Andrade: Graciosity in Motion Fabricio Sales Silva, 2025-03-19 From a very young age I knew that gymnastics was my passion I started at the age of four taken by my aunt to the gym where she worked I remember her walking long distances to save the ticket money and make sure I could continue pursuing my dream This was one of the greatest life lessons I received the importance of sacrifice and unconditional support from those who love us My journey was not easy I faced three tears in the anterior cruciate ligament an injury that often ends an athlete's career But I came back There were times when the pain and frustration were almost unbearable but in each of those moments I chose not to give up Each surgery each day of rehabilitation was a battle but also an opportunity to strengthen myself Don't let hardship define who you are Use them as a springboard to jump higher Life challenges us in many ways but it's our response to those challenges that really counts I learned that in order to achieve our dreams we need to be resilient persevering and above all believe in ourselves even when the path seems impossible Never underestimate the power of your dreams and your determination Believe in yourself even when no one else does And remember the greatest triumphs often come after the most difficult times
