Education For Peace And Justice:

Educating for Peace and Justice Mary Beth Gallagher, 1976      Education for Peace and Justice: Global dimensions James B. McGinnis, Kathleen McGinnis, 1981      Teaching Peace as a Matter of Justice Dale T. Snauwaert, 2023-07-07 This book explores the normative dimensions of peace studies and peace education through the lens of moral and political philosophy. The purpose is to explore the idea of peace as a matter of justice and to articulate a pedagogical framework for the development and exercise of citizens' capacities for moral reasoning and judgment regarding potential responses to the basic questions of justice including resisting injustice. The just conditions necessary for peace are contingent upon the informed participation of democratic citizens who are capable of becoming dynamic agents of justice. The development of citizens' capacity for moral reasoning and judgment is of paramount importance for it constitutes a necessary condition for the realization of justice and peace on all levels of human society from local to global. The book will be of interest to both students and all those interested in thinking about peace as a matter of justice.      Education for Peace and Justice: Teacher background reading James B. McGinnis, Kathleen McGinnis, 1981      Exploring Betty A. Reardon's Perspective on Peace Education Dale T. Snauwaert, 2019-05-15 This book presents commentaries by a leading international group of peace education scholars and practitioners concerning Reardon's peace education theory and intellectual legacy. The guiding question throughout the book is: How can her foundational work be used to advance the theory and practice of peace education? In an attempt to find answers, the contributing authors explore three general areas of inquiry: 1. Theoretical Foundations of Peace and Human Rights Education; 2. Feminism and the Gender Perspective as Pathways of Transformation Toward Peace and Justice; and 3. Peace Education Pedagogy and Practices. A contemplative commentary by Reardon herself rounds out the coverage.      Education for peace and justice, 1985      Educating for Peace and Human Rights Maria Hantzopoulos, Monisha Bajaj, 2021-04-08 Over the past five decades, both peace education and human rights education have emerged distinctly and separately as global fields of scholarship and practice. Promoted through multiple efforts, the United Nations civil society grassroots educators of these fields consider content processes and educational structures that seek to dismantle various forms of violence as well as move towards cultures of peace, justice, and human rights. Educating for Peace and Human Rights Education introduces students and educators to the challenges and possibilities of implementing peace and human rights education in diverse global sites. The book untangles the core concepts that define both fields, unpacking their histories and conceptual foundations and presents models and key research findings to help consider their intersections, convergences, and divergences. Including an annotated bibliography, the book sets forth a comprehensive research agenda, allowing emerging and seasoned scholars the opportunity to situate their research in conversation with the global fields of peace and human rights education.      Education for Peace and Justice James B. McGinnis, Kathleen McGinnis, 1981      Transitional Justice and Education Clara Ramírez-Barat, Martina Schulze, 2018-07-16 This volume addresses the role and importance of education for processes of transitional justice In the aftermath of conflict and mass violence education has been one of the tools with which societies have sought to achieve positive transformation While education has the potential to trigger maintain and exacerbate conflict it has also been designed to promote a deeper more nuanced understanding of the past and to advance reconciliation peacebuilding and prevention The original contributions in the book reflect on lessons learned from education policies of the past in post conflict societies and seek innovative sustainable and context sensitive grassroots approaches designed to advocate critical thinking values of inclusion and tolerance and ultimately a culture of peace

Peace and Social Justice Education on Campus Kelly Concannon, Laura L. Finley, 2015 This book provides important reflections by and for peace and social justice educators working on college campuses Importantly it also integrates the voices of students More than a feel good compilation of success stories however it illustrates the complexities inherent in teaching and learning about and for peace and social justice Chapters in the book provide critical assessments of institutions pedagogies and practices making visible the messy but very real spaces in which education and learning occur Written by faculty and students from many disciplinary areas the contributions discuss in class and outside of class actions providing a deeper understanding of best practices and challenges faced by both groups Albeit in different ways that are reflective of the many different pedagogical approaches to peace and justice education each chapter integrates ideas concepts and reflections from both faculty and students The conclusion and appendix offer recommendations for future and additional resources for college and university faculty and students interested in learning more about peace and social justice

Rewilding Education Hilary Cremin, 2025-07-25 Rewilding Education calls for a radical system wide reinvention of education as an adaptable ecosystem less predictable and measurable but far more suitable for shaping the adults of tomorrow By encouraging us to transform how we think about education in what is left of the twenty first century Hilary Cremin connects directly with educators parents young people and policymakers to share a vision for healthy education settings and societies that nurture both human flourishing and sustainable ecosystems Full of ideas about what rewilding might look like when applied to education Hilary Cremin evidences how education has been and can be successfully rewilded in schools and classrooms including case studies from unexpected places like Kerala in India where literacy rates exceed those in the United States By combining academic research poetry and examples from around the world the book will inspire the next generation of educators decision makers and families to take practical steps towards the education our children need and deserve
