The Evolution of American Educational Technology Paul Saettler, 2004-03-01 The primary purpose of this book is to trace the theoretical methodological foundations of American educational technology It must be emphasized that this work is essentially as history of the process of educational technology rather than of products in the form of devices or media Although media have played an important role in educational technology the reader should not lose sight of the central process which characterizes and underlies the true historical meaning and function of educational technology Moreover the assumption is made that all current theory methodology and practice rests upon the heritage of the past Indeed a common problem in the field has been the failure in many instances to take adequate account of past history in planning for the present or the future A related purpose of this book is to provide a selective survey of research in educational technology as it relates to the American public schools Such research reviews are not intended to be comprehensive but were included because of their historical importance and their relevance in understanding the process of educational technology AECT at 100 ,2023-08-21 The purpose of AECT at 100 A Legacy of Leadership is to highlight the Association for Educational Communications and Technology's 100 years of leadership in educational technology and learning AECT has a rich history evolving from the National Education Association's NEA Department of Visual Instruction DVI and later the Department of Audio Visual Instruction DAVI Over its 100 years AECT and its members have had a substantial impact on the evolution of American educational technology and learning including in the areas of audiovisual instruction instructional design and online learning AECT at 100 A Legacy of Leadership brings together writers and experts in the organization to explore various periods of history within the field and how AECT and its membership stood as a leader within the field Topics such as visual instruction the audiovisual movement leadership development programmed instruction diversity leadership AECT and educational technology topics journals ethics and social justice are explored Additionally a number of leaders are explored from the early days of AECT such as James Finn F Dean McClusky Edgar Dale and Elizabeth Golterman all the way to recent leaders such as Rob Branch Educational Media and Technology Yearbook Michael Orey,V. J. McClendon,Robert Maribe Branch,2009-05-28 The Educational Media and Technology Yearbook has become a standard reference in many libraries and professional collections Examined in relation to its companion volumes of the past it provides a valuable historical record of current ideas and developments in the field Part I Trends and Issues presents an array of chapters that develop some of the current themes listed above in addition to others Part II Library and Information Science concentrates upon chapters of special relevance to K 12 education library science education school learning resources and various types of library and media centers school public and academic among others In Part III Leadership Profiles authors provide biographical sketches of the careers of instructional technology leaders Part IV Organizations and Associations in North America and Part V Graduate Programs in North America are respectively directories of instructional technology related organizations and institutions of higher learning offering degrees in related fields Finally Part VI the Mediategraphy presents an annotated listing of selected current publications related to the field For a number of years we have worked together as editors and the sixth with Dr Michael Orey as the senior editor Last year as the senior editor Orey decided to try and come up with a list of the top programs rather than just the list of all the programs This has proven to be problematic First of all bias exists when we are rating a field in which our program is within those to be rated Educational Media and Technology Yearbook 2003 Mary Ann Fitzgerald,Michael Orey,Robert Maribe Branch,2003-06-30 The 28th volume of the Educational Media and Technology Yearbook describes current developments and trends in the field of instructional technology Prominent themes for this volume include e learning collaboration the standards reform movement and a critical look at the field in its historical context The audience for the Yearbook consists of media and technology professionals in schools higher education and business contexts including instructional technology faculty school library media specialists curriculum leaders business training professionals and instructional designers The Educational Media and Technology Yearbook has become a standard reference in many libraries and professional collections Educational Research in Higher Education Jose Gomez Galan, 2022-09-01 Moreover in recognition of the limitations inherent to its conceptualization in which models present approaches from quantitative and qualitative research in order to address the totality and density of human endeavor For this reason within higher education research a more pluralistic and flexible view of research is emerging where models of quantitative and qualitative research are recognized as being complementary to each other to enter the social convulsion in which we live Educational Research in Higher Education presents latest research theories and modern day examples of design research in higher education The chapters represent an extensive assortment of interpretations and examples of how today s new design researchers conceptualize this growing methodology across areas as varied as classroom teaching methodologies instructional innovations educational technology equality studies environmental education etc This book is planned as a guide for master and doctoral students novel researchers crossover and professional researchers from field s other than but related to higher education who are interested in supporting new design research
