Debates (Hansard). Great Britain. Parliament. House of Commons, 1955 Contains the 4th session of the 28th Parliament through the session of the Parliament Aging, 1982 The Dying Patient E. Wilkes, 2012-12-06 The main purpose of this book is to bring together some description of the skills and attitudes of those working in the hospice units specializing in terminal care with those rather different but overlapping skills used daily in the palliation of chronic or incurable disease. This varied collection of papers does not pretend to be exhaustive. Among the omissions for example are two major causes of death: chronic respiratory disease and stroke. This is because the treatment of the end state of these conditions and they are not alone in this lies more in the gentle withdrawal of measures no longer appropriate rather than in any positive regime within the gift of the physician. This may lead on occasion to an unjustifiable diminution of interest but this is less likely in cases of cardiac or malignant disease. Ischaemic heart disease remains the main killer of the western world. We may see important changes in our approach over the next decade as we document slowly and painstakingly the comparative ineffectiveness of our therapy but in cases of progressive cardiac disease no matter how we may argue as to management or prevention we are agreed that we must lighten the dreary burden of illness as effectively as possible.

Community Care of Older People David Beales, 2018-05-08. This comprehensive book gives an up to date profile of all aspects of the care of older people in the community with particular emphasis on the importance of maintaining function and independence as well as health. In a uniquely broad approach the book is edited by two family doctors with a particular interest in the elderly and a consultant geriatrician and the varied subjects are each presented by experts in their field. This accessible book enables primary care teams to produce optimal standards of care in old age and is helpful in the organization of preventive care programmes. Emphasizing the need for joint working the book draws together practical knowledge and skills to produce an essential source of reference and advice for all those involved in delivering a co-ordinated service. It is essential reading for all doctors in general practice and in public health, medical students and all other professionals whose work brings them into contact with elderly people. It is particularly useful for general practice teams, allied professionals such as nurses and physiotherapists as well as patients and carers seeking an understanding of good practice. It also contains much practical information vital to the work of voluntary agencies, social service departments and specialists in geriatric medicine.

Old Age in Modern Society Christina R. Victor, 2013-11-11. Old age is a part of the lifecycle about which there are numerous myths and stereotypes. To present an overstatement of commonly held beliefs the old are portrayed as dependent individuals characterized by a lack of social autonomy, unloved and neglected by both their immediate family and friends and posing a threat to the living standards of younger age groups by being a burden that consumes without producing. Older people are perceived as a single homogeneous group and the experience of ageing characterized as being the same for all individuals irrespective of the diversity of their circumstances before the onset of old age. In this book detailed statistical material is used to portray the circumstances of older people in modern society in an attempt to evaluate the appropriateness or otherwise of the major stereotypes of later life. This volume does not address ageing from a psychological or micro-social perspective. In particular we do not explore major issues relating to old age. Rather we feel that from the extensive collection of surveys concerned with the elderly we can provide a context within which individual elderly people can be studied from more anthropological or biographical perspectives BMJ, 2001
