

Heart of Darkness

This is a journey into the heart of Mr Kurtz – so sensitive, so civilized – who, at the savage centre of the jungle, sees into the darkness of himself, and dies –

"Did he live his life again in every detail of desire, temptation, and surrender during that supreme moment of complete knowledge? He cried in a whisper at some image, at some vision – he cried out twice, a cry that was no more than a breath – "The horror! The horror!" "

T.S. Eliot's use of this quotation from Heart of Darkness as an epigraph to the original manuscript of The Wasteland was no doubt inspired by his belief that Mr Kurtz, the ambiguous hero of the story, stands at the dark heart of the twentieth century . . .

Myths of Origins, 2024-05-06 The articles in Myths of Origins provide insights into the universality of myths of origins as patterns of literary creation from Antiquity to the present The essays range from an investigation of the six models of beginnings in Western literature to the workings of modern myths of origins in postcolonial literature and relocate the discussion on myths of origin in a wider context that besides the humanities considers linguistics and the impact of new technologies The contributing authors to the volume shed light on issues relating to myths of origins by linking this subject to literary creation and adopting a multidisciplinary approach

Lord Jim, Suicidal Narrative in Modern Japan Alan Stephen Wolfe, 2014-07-14 Dazai Osamu 1909 1948 is one of Japan's most famous literary suicides known as the earliest postwar manifestation of the genuinely alienated writer in Japan In this first deconstructive reading of a modern Japanese novelist Alan Wolfe draws on contemporary Western literary and cultural theories and on a knowledge of Dazai's work in the context of Japanese literary history to provide a fresh view of major texts by this important literary figure In the process Wolfe revises Japanese as well as Western scholarship on Dazai and discovers new connections among suicide autobiography alienation and modernization As shown here Dazai's writings resist narrative and historical closure while he may be said to serve the Japanese literary establishment as both romantic decadent and representative scapegoat his texts reveal a deconstructive edge through which his posthumous status as a monument of negativity is already perceived and undone Wolfe maintains that cultural modernization pits a Western concept of the individual as realized self and coherent subject against an Eastern absent self and that a felt need to overcome this tension inspires the autobiographical fiction so prevalent in Japanese novels Suicidal Narrative in Modern Japan shows that Dazai's texts also resist readings that would resolve the gaps East West self other modern premodern still prevalent in Japanese intellectual life Originally published in 1990 The Princeton Legacy Library uses the latest print on demand technology to again make available previously out of print books from the distinguished backlist of Princeton University Press These editions preserve the original texts of these important books while presenting them in durable paperback and hardcover editions The goal of the Princeton Legacy Library is to vastly increase access to the rich scholarly heritage found in the thousands of books published by Princeton University Press since its founding in 1905

Although Polish by birth Joseph Conrad 1857 1924 is regarded as one of the greatest writers in English and Heart of Darkness first published in 1902 is considered by many his most famous finest and most enigmatic story Encyclopaedia Britannica The tale concerns the journey of the narrator Marlow up the Congo River on behalf of a Belgian trading company Far upriver he encounters the mysterious Kurtz an ivory trader who exercises an almost godlike sway over the inhabitants of the region Both repelled and fascinated by the man Marlow is brought face to face with the corruption and despair that Conrad saw at the heart of human existence In its combination of narrative and symbolic power masterly character study and acute psychological penetration Heart of Darkness ranks as a landmark of modern fiction It is a book no serious student of literature can afford to miss Heart of Darkness: Modern English Translation Joseph Conrad, 2018-10-14 Heart of Darkness the book the classic movie Apocalypse Now is based on now translated into easier to read modern English The story of Marlow a sailor who must travel down an unnamed African river in search of Mr Kurtz the elusive ivory trader With all the colonialism and hatred of large companies but without the Victorian English and the n word Discourse and Style Dan Shen, 2024-12-02 This book examines overlaps differences and complementarities between narratology and stylistics and shows the consequences of this examination for the practical analysis of prose narrative Narratology identifies discourse as one of its two main objects of study story being the other and stylistics of course designates style as its concern Too often however work in each of these fields proceeds without attention to developments in the other This book corrects that situation by looking beneath the superficial similarities between the discourse of narratology and the style of fictional stylistics The author shows that the two seemingly interchangeable terms actually refer to different textual elements For example both narratology and stylistics identify point of view as an important element of discourse and style respectively but each approach conceives of it differently and thus analyzes it differently This book argues that the different analyses are complementary and shows how they can be brought together This synthesis leads to richer conceptions of point of view as well as more comprehensive and precise analyses of its functions and effects in individual narratives For its theoretical and interpretive contributions this book will appeal to scholars and students in narrative studies literary stylistics and literary theory and criticism
