A History of Canadian Literature William H. New, William Herbert New, 2003 New offers an unconventionally structured overview of Canadian literature from Native American mythologies to contemporary texts Publishers Weekly A History of Canadian Literature looks at the work of writers and the social and cultural contexts that helped shape their preoccupations and direct their choice of literary form W H New explains how from early records of oral tales to the writing strategies of the early twenty first century writer reader literature and society are interrelated New discusses both Aboriginal and European mythologies looking at pre Contact narratives and also at the way Contact experience altered hierarchies of literary value He then considers representations of the real whether in documentary fantasy or satire historical romance and the social construction of Nature and State and ironic subversions of power the politics of cultural form and the relevance of the media to a representation of community standard and individual voice New suggests some ways in which writers of the later twentieth century codified such issues as history gender ethnicity and literary technique itself In this second edition he adds a lengthy chapter that considers how writers at the turn of the twenty first century have reimagined their society and their roles within it and an expanded chronology and bibliography Some of these writers have spoken from and about various social margins dealing with issues of race status ethnicity and sexuality some have sought emotional understanding through strategies of history and memory some have addressed environmental concerns and some have reconstructed the world by writing across genres and across different media All genres are represented with examples chosen primarily but not exclusively from anglophone and francophone texts A chronology plates and a series of tables supplement the commentary Beyond Sounds and Words / Poza dźwięki i słowa Anna Niżegorodcew, Maria Jodłowiec, The present volume is a token of gratitude for our colleague Janina Anieli Ozga a senior lecturer at the Institute of English Philology of the Jagiellonian University The book is a collection of papers on a wide spectrum of topics ranging from Hamlet to Zoolander which reflect diverse academic interests of the authors literary theory linguistics translation studies philosophy of language history and language teaching The common thread running through all the papers is the desire of the authors all of them humanists involved in academic pursuits to place in a theoretical perspective of their discipline and shed new light on an interesting research problem in literature art language use or language teaching that they have identified Cruciformity Michael J. Gorman, 2001-07-17 Most studies of Paul concentrate solely on his theology This book breaks new ground by focusing on the source and nature of Paul s spirituality Taking his cue from Paul s express desire to know nothing but Christ crucified Michael Gorman shows how Paul s personal experience of God constantly intersects with the story of the cross an event that both reveals the cruciform character of God and shapes believers into a community of cruciformity conformity to the crucified Christ Expertly combining biblical studies and theological reflection this noteworthy volume presents a model of the Christian life marked by faith love power and hope

Conflict and Compromise in East Germany, 1971-1989 J. American Poetry after Modernism Albert Gelpi, 2015-03-09 Albert Gelpi s American Poetry after Modernism is a study of sixteen major American poets of the postwar period from Robert Lowell to Adrienne Rich Gelpi argues that a distinctly American poetic tradition was solidified in the later half of the twentieth century thus severing it from British conventions In Gelpi s view what distinguishes the American poetic tradition from the British is that at the heart of the American endeavor is a primary questioning of function and medium The chief paradox in American poetry is the lack of a tradition that requires answering and redefining redefining what it means to be a poet and likewise how the words of a poem create meaning offer insight into reality and answer the ultimate questions of living Through chapters devoted to specific poets Gelpi explores this paradox by providing an original and insightful reading of late twentieth century American poetry The Creative Mind in

Coleridge's Poetry Kathleen M. Wheeler, 1981 Five of Coleridge s major poems are given fresh scrutiny in this arresting study One of its unusual features is the attention given the Preface to Kubla Khan the Gloss to The Ancient Mariner and other prose accompaniments to the poems usually dismissed as extraneous Devices such as these the author argues are strategically employed by Coleridge in an effort to engage the reader in a fully imaginative response Kathleen Wheeler elucidates the texts in terms of aesthetic experience and also in terms of the philosophical principles that inform them showing how Coleridge s theories of mind and imagination function within the poems and shape their design A subtle and gifted reader of poetry she enriches our understanding of poems we thought we knew well and provides insights along the way into the creative process
