Asians and Pacific Islanders in American Football Joel S. Franks, 2018-05-04 This book sheds light on experiences relatively underrepresented in academic and non academic sport history It examines how Asian and Pacific Islander peoples used American football to maintain a sense of community while encountering racial exclusion labor exploitation and colonialism Through their participation and spectatorship in American football Asian and Pacific Islander people crossed treacherous cultural frontiers to construct what sociologist Elijah Anderson has called a cosmopolitan canopy under which Asian Americans Pacific Islanders and people of diverse racial and ethnic identities interacted with at least a semblance of respect and equity And perhaps a surprising number of Asian Americans and Pacific Islanders have excelled in college and even professional football before the 1960s Finally acknowledging the impressive influx of elite Pacific Islander gridgers who surfaced in the late twentieth and early twenty first century it is vital to note as well the racialized nativism shadowing the lives of these athletes

Cheng, 2012-03-01 Throughout the history of Christianity lesbian gay bisexual and transgender LGBT or queer people have been condemned as unrepentant sinners who are in dire need of God s saving grace As a result of this condemnation LGBT people have been subjected to great spiritual emotional and physical abuse and violence This issue takes on a particular urgency in light of the ongoing harassment and bullying of LGBT young people by their classmates Cheng argues that people need to be liberated from the traditional legal model of thinking about sin and grace as a violation of divine and natural laws in which grace is understood as the strength to refrain from violating such laws Rather Cheng proposes a Christological model based upon the theologies of Irenaeus Bonaventure and Barth in which sin and grace are defined in terms of what God has done for us in Jesus Christ This book serves as a useful resource for all people who struggle to make sense of the traditional Christian doctrines of sin and grace in the context of the 21st century
