Exposure Assessment In Occupational And Environmental Epidemiology:

Exposure Assessment in Occupational and Environmental Epidemiology Mark J. Nieuwenhuijsen, 2003-08-07 Set against a background of growing public media and political concern about occupational and environmental health issues and a scientific need to better understand and explain the effects of pollutants on human health this book is a unique resource. Contributions from an expert panel of international practitioners provide a comprehensive reference on the state of the art methods and applications in the field of occupational and environmental pollution and the adverse health effects particularly the exposure assessment in epidemiological studies. Risks associated with occupational and environmental exposure are generally small but the exposed population and hence the population attributable risk may be large. To detect small risk the exposure assessment needs to be very refined. Exposure assessment is the study of the distribution and determinants of potentially hazardous agents and includes the estimation of intensity, duration and frequency of exposure, the variation in these indices and their determinants. The aim of this book is to develop an understanding and knowledge of exposure assessment methods and their application to substantive issues in occupational and environmental epidemiology. The emphasis is on methodological principles and good practice. It is focused on exposure assessment in both occupational and environmental epidemiology since there are many similarities but also some interesting differences. The book outlines the basic principles of exposure assessment and examines the current status and research questions in the exposure assessment of occupational and environmental epidemiological studies of allergens, particulate matter, chlorination, disinfection by products, agricultural pesticides and radiofrequencies. The book will be of interest to all concerned with exposure assessment and epidemiology. It will be a valuable source for undergraduate and postgraduate courses in exposure assessment, occupational hygiene, environmental science, epidemiology, toxicology, biostatistics, occupational and environmental health, health risk assessment and related disciplines and a useful resource of reference for policy makers and regulators.

Exposure Assessment in Environmental Epidemiology Mark J. Nieuwenhuijsen, 2015-07-08 This completely updated edition of Exposure Assessment in Environmental Epidemiology offers a practical introduction to exposure assessment methodologies in environmental epidemiologic studies. In addition to methods for traditional methods, questionnaires, biomonitoring, this new edition is expanded to include geographic information systems, modeling, personal sensing, remote sensing and OMICs technologies. In addition, each of these methods is contextualized within a recent epidemiology study, maximizing illustration for students and those new to these techniques. With clear writing and extensive illustration, this book will be useful to anyone interested in exposure assessment regardless of background. Environmental Health Perspectives, 2004. Information Resources in Toxicology, Volume 1: Background, Resources, and Tools, 2020-05-16 This new fifth edition of Information Resources in Toxicology offers a consolidated entry portal for the study, research and practice of toxicology. Both volumes represent a unique, wide-ranging, curated international annotated bibliography and directory of major resources in toxicology and allied fields such as environmental and occupational health chemical safety and risk assessment The editors and authors are among the leaders of the profession sharing their cumulative wisdom in toxicology s subdisciplines This edition keeps pace with the digital world in directing and linking readers to relevant websites and other online tools Due to the increasing size of the hardcopy publication the current edition has been divided into two volumes to make it easier to handle and consult Volume 1 Background Resources and Tools arranged in 5 parts begins with chapters on the science of toxicology its history and informatics framework in Part 1 Part 2 continues with chapters organized by more specific subject such as cancer clinical toxicology genetic toxicology etc The categorization of chapters by resource format for example journals and newsletters technical reports organizations constitutes Part 3 Part 4 further considers toxicology s presence via the Internet databases and software tools Among the miscellaneous topics in the concluding Part 5 are laws and regulations professional education grants and funding and patents Volume 2 The Global Arena offers contributed chapters focusing on the toxicology contributions of over 40 countries followed by a glossary of toxicological terms and an appendix of popular quotations related to the field The book offered in both print and electronic formats is carefully structured indexed and cross referenced to enable users to easily find answers to their questions or serendipitously locate useful knowledge they were not originally aware they needed Among the many timely topics receiving increased emphasis are disaster preparedness nanotechnology omics risk assessment societal implications such as ethics and the precautionary principle climate change and children s environmental health Introductory chapters provide a backdrop to the science of toxicology its history the origin and status of toxicoinformatics and starting points for identifying resources Offers an extensive array of chapters organized by subject each highlighting resources such as journals databases organizations and review articles Includes chapters with an emphasis on format such as government reports general interest publications blogs and audiovisuals Explores recent internet trends web based databases and software tools in a section on the online environment Concludes with a miscellany of special topics such as laws and regulations chemical hazard communication resources careers and professional education K 12 resources funding poison control centers and patents Paired with Volume Two which focuses on global resources this set offers the most comprehensive compendium of print digital and organizational resources in the toxicological sciences with over 120 chapters contributions by experts and leaders in the field
