Plant Genetic Resources B. S. Dhillon, 2005. The agricultural paradigm is already undergoing a shift in focus from food security towards nutritional quality. Horticultural crops, besides improving biological productivity and nutritional standards, also have enormous export potential. This group of crops, comprising fruits, vegetables, root and tuber crops, plantation crops, medicinal and aromatic plants, spices, and condiments, and ornamental crops, would constitute the core of any such agro-economic strategy. In addition to supplementing the economy and national food grid by providing fresh and processed fruits, vegetables, nuts, etc., horticultural crops also help to promote diversification. Depletion of plant genetic resources in areas of diversity at a rapid pace is a matter of global concern. This book profiles all scientific management aspects of the horticultural crop genetic resources, including their diversity, conservation, and sustainable utilization. It also addresses vital concerns regarding management of horticultural crop genetic resources from diverse perspectives and provides recommendations for action in certain areas of research that must be pursued with intensity. The publication would serve as a valuable comprehensive scientific reference for breeders, researchers, teachers, students, and policy makers in biology and agriculture.

The Eyes of the Fleet: An Analysis of the E-2C Aircraft Acquisition Options, 2002. The E-2C Hawkeye is the U.S. Navy's all-weather, carrier-based, airborne early warning (AEW) aircraft. Additional missions for which the E-2C is used include surface surveillance, coordination, strike, and interceptor control, search and rescue, guidance, and communication relay. It is an integral component of the carrier air wing. The basic E-2C model is a relatively old design, having joined the fleet in the early 1970s. However, it has been improved several times, and the most current version, the Hawkeye 2000 (HE2000), now in production, represents the fifth E-2C model. The current production model adds a sensor networking system known as cooperative engagement capability (CEC), which provides all members of the network, ideally all members of the carrier battle group, with a real-time combined radar identification, friend or foe (IFF) picture of the tactical air environment. Northrop Grumman Corporation (NGC) is under contract to deliver 21 of these aircraft to the Navy. The first of these aircraft was delivered in October 2001, and the final one is scheduled to arrive in 2006.

A Matter of Time Michael Bowler, 2012-02. What is your destiny? This question haunts 20-year-old Jamie Collins. A junior at Santa Clara University in 1986, Jamie has friends, a professor who mentors him, and a promising future as a writer. Then the dreams begin, nightmarish visions that transport him back to a time and place fifty years before he was born: Titanic's maiden voyage in 1912. Less than a week before the 74th anniversary of its sinking, Jamie discovers that his fate is inexplicably linked to that of the famous vessel. Somehow, the two timelines are overlapping, and when Titanic dies, this time Jamie will die along with it. The dreams reveal something evil stalking the ill-fated ship, something that expedites the collision which sinks her. Jamie realizes that the only way to stop this evil and prevent his own death may be to prevent Titanic from sinking in the first place But how How can he stop that ship from sinking in 1912 when he hadn't even been born yet And even if he can stop it should he What will be the effect on history if he succeeds Jamie's quest to fulfill his destiny ties friends and family together in ways he could never have imagined A Matter of Time is an emotionally charged voyage into the value of friendship the power of love the impact of evil and the vagaries of Fate "Titanic" Disaster United States.
