Weitzenboeck,2012 The last two decades have witnessed the growth of new forms of entrepreneurial cooperation such as dynamic networks like virtual enterprises and enterprise pools These business forms are often hybrid having elements of both contract based organizations and corporate forms in particular partnership This book examines the relative utility of contract and partnership law in fostering and maintaining these emerging business models focusing on dynamic networks The book analyses how dynamic networks are organized and set up through very often collaborative contracts and how the behaviour of their member firms is regulated Good faith and fair dealing as a behavioural criterion in contractual and partnership relations is an important theme of this work The background and preconditions for the emergence and growth of such business forms is also investigated The book contains case studies of such networks from different countries in particular Germany Austria Switzerland England and Norway It examines relevant legal rules in a number of jurisdictions such as England Norway Germany Italy France and the US This detailed book will appeal to postgraduate students and academics in the fields of contract law comparative law partnership law and business commercial law Academics in other disciplines such as economics sociology and business management will also find much to interest them in this study The Regulation of Organised Civil Society Jonathan Garton, 2009-06-25 Although much has been written on organised civil society the loose collective of organisations that operate outside the public sector the private market and the family unit over the past 30 years there has been little jurisprudential analysis This is in spite of the fact that a number of jurisdictions including England New Zealand Northern Ireland and Scotland have recently implemented major reforms to the regulatory frameworks in which civil society organisations operate with a particular emphasis on the charitable sectors Redressing the balance this monograph considers from first principles when it is appropriate to regulate organised civil society and how that regulation might best be accomplished Four broad issues are addressed a whether the activities undertaken by civil society organisations are distinct from the activities undertaken by the state or the market either because they are pursued in unique ways or because they produce unique outcomes b if so whether it is justifiable to regulate organised civil society activities in a sector specific way c if it is whether the peculiar characteristics of these activities make one type of regulation more appropriate than another and d whether it is appropriate to distinguish between charities and other civil society organisations for regulatory purposes The monograph integrates the traditionally separate disciplines of civil society theory and regulation theory to provide answers to these questions and advance a rudimentary theory of regulation specific to organised civil society
