The Sound of Medieval Song Timothy J. McGee, 1998-04-02 The Sound of Medieval Song is a study of how sacred and secular music was actually sung during the Middle Ages The source of the information is the actual notation in the early manuscripts as well as statements found in approximately 50 theoretical treatises written between the years 600 1500 The writings describe various singing practices and both desirable and undesirable vocal techniques providing a fairly accurate picture of how singers approached the music of the period Detailed descriptions of the types and uses of improvised ornament indicate that in performance the music was highly ornate and included trill gliss reverberation pulsation pitch inflection non diatonic tones and cadenza like passages of various lengths The treatises also provide evidence of stylistic differences in various geographical locations McGee draws conclusions about the kind of vocal production and techniques necessary in order to reproduce the music as it was performed during the Middle Ages aligning the practices much more closely with those of the Middle East than has ever been previously acknowledged Where is Thumbkin? Pamela Byrne Schiller, Thomas Moore, 1993 Activities that relate to every learning center science art language math motor skills drama social studies and cooking all prompted by children s songs Organized by the calendar the words to each song are accompanied by Things to talk about Thematic connections Curriculum extensions Related bibliography and Related records and tapes Picture Books Plus Sue McCleaf Nespeca, Joan B.
