The First Air War Terry C. Treadwell, 1998 The Battles of the British Expeditionary Forces, 1914-1915 Fred R. van Hartesveldt, 2005-04-30 In this valuable resource over 1 000 annotated sources from Great Britain France and Germany offer a historiographical reference for study of the British army at the beginning and in the first battles of World War I Unique to this bibliography is the comprehensive coverage of sources resulting in a more complete picture of the circumstances of activities of the British Expeditionary Force BEF Sources include coverage of the BEF s military role as well as background information about domestic military considerations and Allied and enemy efforts This volume will support researchers and students in their efforts to find out what the Expeditionary Force s contributions were in World War I and for expanding their knowledge of the Great War and British military history In this valuable resource over 1 000 annotated sources from Great Britain France and Germany offer a historiographical reference for study of the British army at the beginning and in the first battles of World War I Unique to this bibliography is the comprehensive coverage of sources and it results in a more complete picture of the circumstances of activities of the British Expeditionary Force BEF Sources include coverage of the BEF s military role as well as background information about domestic military considerations and Allied and enemy efforts This volume will support researchers and students in their efforts to find out what the Expeditionary Force s contributions were in World War I and for expanding their knowledge of the Great War and British military history The volume includes four chapters of historiographical essays discussing the interpretations and controversies that surround the performance and leadership of the BEF in 1914 1915 The essays direct readers to the major sources that support various ideas and indicate gaps in the historiography of the subject Following the historiographical essays is an annotated bibliography of more than 1 000 sources that are relevant to the study of the BEF A Twist of Fate Roberto de Haro, 2024-08-26 Few novels have been written about American flyers during World War I A Twist of Fate is a compelling book that tells the story of an American Cajun from Louisiana who goes to France after graduating from college and flies with a French squadron He is shot down but recovers While recuperating he meets and falls in love with a beautiful aristocratic woman in a loveless marriage He navigates the intrigue and propaganda attempts by Allied groups with the advice and friendship of a talented American diplomat He returns to the war and becomes a celebrated Ace and earns medals for bravery in combat He is sent to America to do a bond tour but returns to France as an American squadron leader His love for the French woman leads to a strong and passionate relationships that helps him survive The Great War Inventing Modern John H. Lienhard, 2003-09-18 Modern is a word much used but hard to pin down In Inventing Modern John H Lienhard uses that word to capture the furious rush of newness in the first half of 20th century America An unexpected world emerges from under the more familiar Modern Beyond the airplanes radios art deco skyscrapers Fritz Lang s Metropolis Buck Rogers the culture of the open road Burma Shave Kerouac and White Castles lie driving forces that set this account of Modern apart One

force says Lienhard was a new concept of boyhood the risk taking hands on savage inventor Driven by an admiration of recklessness America developed its technological empire with stunning speed Bringing the airplane to fruition in so short a time for example were people such as Katherine Stinson Lincoln Beachey Amelia Earhart and Charles Lindbergh The rediscovery of mystery powerfully drove Modern as well X Rays quantum mechanics and relativity theory had followed electricity and radium Here we read how with reality seemingly altered hope seemed limitless Lienhard blends these forces with his childhood in the brave new world The result is perceptive engaging and filled with surprise Whether he talks about Alexander Calder an engineer whose sculptures were exercises in materials science or that wacky paean to flight Flying Down to Rio unexpected detail emerges from every tile of this large mosaic Inventing Modern is a personal book that displays rather than defines an age that ended before most of us were born It is an engineer's homage to a time before the bomb and our terrible loss of confidence a time that might yet rise again out of its own postmodern ashes Battle For Air

Supremacy Over The Somme: 1 June-30 November 1916 Lt-Col Thomas G. Bradbeer,2014-08-15 Much has been written about the Battle of the Somme From July through late November 1916 British French and German armies fought one of the costliest battles of the twentieth century Well over a million casualties and only a few miles of ground gained by the Allies were the result when the battle ended Little however has been written about the second battle which occurred simultaneously this one in the skies above the Somme where for the first time in the history of warfare a deliberate attempt was made to control the sky The British Royal Flying Corps under the resolute command of General Sir Hugh Trenchard fought to gain air supremacy from the German Air Service Trenchard believed that the best way to support the ground force was to dominate and control the sky above the battlefield This air campaign was critical because of its impact on the doctrine and theory of air warfare which followed it This study examines the efforts of the Royal Flying Corps to gain air supremacy against the German Air Service before and during the Battle of the Somme Manfred Von Richthofen Earle Rice

(Jr.),2013 Profiles Manfred von Richthofen the Red Baron a German fighter pilot during World War I Twist of Fate Roberto de Haro,2006 Rest in Peace Gary Laderman,2003 Drawing upon interviews with funeral directors major historical events like the funerals of John F Kennedy and Rudolf Valentino films television newspaper reports and other primary sources Rest in Peace cuts through the rhetoric to show the reality of the American funeral The First Blitz Neil Hanson,2008 Fighting was raging on the other side of the Channel but in London in the warmth of a drowsy late September afternoon the war seemed a long way away The roads were strangely quiet and deserted for petrol restrictions had reduced motor traffic almost to zero London seemed breathless in the tense expectancy of disaster The alarm was given soon after nightfall At Biggin Hill and a score of other airfields pilots scrambled from their quarters and sprinted for their aircraft Within seconds the air was full of the noise of engines as the squadrons taxied out and took off into the ever darkening sky

September Evening Barry Diggins,2012-03-19 The true story of the daredevil flying ace who rivaled the Red Baron with photos included This is the first full length biography of nineteen year old Werner Voss a legend in his lifetime and the youngest recipient of the Pour le Mérite Germany's highest award for bravery in WWI At the time of his death he was considered by many friend and foe alike to be Germany's greatest ace and had he lived Voss would almost certainly have overtaken Manfred von Richthofen's victory total by early spring of 1918 Voss is perhaps best remembered for his outstanding courage his audacity in the air and the prodigious number of victories he achieved before being killed in one of the most swashbuckling and famous dogfights of the Great War a fight involving James McCudden and 56 Squadron RFC the most successful Allied scout squadron Yet the life of Voss and the events of that fateful September day are surrounded by mystery and uncertainty and even now aviation enthusiasts continue to ask questions about him on an almost daily basis Barry Diggins was determined to uncover the truth and September Evening unearths and analyzes every scrap of information concerning this extraordinary young man Diggins's conclusions are sometimes controversial but his evidence is persuasive and this study will be welcomed by and of great interest to the aviation fraternity worldwide German Knights of the Air, 1914-1918 Terry C. Treadwell, Alan C. Wood, 1998 Air Pictorial, 1998 Fighting the Flying Circus Eddie Rickenbacker, 1997 Diary of a Night Bomber Pilot in World War I Clive Semple, 2008-03-28 Flying at 18 demobbed at 20 Semple's astonishing experience has been meticulously put into context How do you fly a Handley Page across France in total darkness The answer is the Lighthouse system just one of the revelations in this unique record of ingenuity and courage

Crimson Sky John R. Bruning, 1999 In his maiden literary flight aviation historian Bruning characterizes the Korean War as a crossroads a last hurrah for one generation of tactics and technology and the proving ground for the next He details 20 aerial actions among them the first air rescue of a downed pilot the Battle of Carlson's Canyon the first dogfight of the war and the death of the first African American naval aviator Annotation copyrighted by Book News Inc Portland OR

Marching to Captivity Gustave Folcher, 1996 Gustave Folcher's story is that of an ordinary peasant from the Languedoc called up into the French Army in September 1939 forced to endure the confusion and incompetence of his superiors during the Phoney War and the disastrous battles of May June 1940 captured by the Germans and subsequently removed to a labour farm in north eastern Germany for the rest of the war Finally released by the advancing Allies Folcher found his way back through the chaos of war torn Europe to his beloved village of Aigues Vives near Nîmes on 12 May 1945 Throughout the six years of war bored by the endless card games of his comrades Gustave Folcher kept a record of his experiences in old excise books These were eventually discovered by Remy Cazals and the Federation audoise des oeuvres laïques and published in France in 1981 They provide a unique and fresh account of a soldier at war of the disintegration of French and German peasant life and finally and most dramatically of the breakdown of German society as the defeat of Nazism approached This is a dramatic story told by a clear eyed observer of a side of the Second World War little known to English readers The British National Bibliography Arthur James Wells, 2006 The Great War, 1919 The Bulletin, 1996 The Great

War in the Air John H. Morrow, 2009-01-13 Starting in 1909 with the beginnings of military aviation and the aviation industry and ending with their catastrophic postwar contraction the book examines the totality of the air war its heroism romantic myths politics strategies and cost in men and materiel John H Morrow Jr also elaborates on the advancements in aircraft and engine technology and production during airpower s development into a viable and threatening military weapon within a decade of its origins
