International Scientific Committee for the Drafting of a General History of Africa, 1999 The hardcover edition of volume 8 was published in 1994 This paperback edition is the eighth and final volume to be published in the UNESCO General History of Africa Volume 8 examines the period from 1935 to the present and details the role of African states in the Second World War and the rise of postwar Africa This is one of the most important books in the entire series and as such it is an unabridged paperback

Ghana's First Republic 1960-1966 Trevor Jones, 2023-12-20 Originally published in 1976 this book describes one of the most important and colourful episodes in black Africa's twentieth century history Kwame Nkrumah the dynamic leader who brought Ghana to independence in 1957 abandoned the Westminster model of representative government to which his country once seemed so well suited He reached out towards the goals of Pan Africanism and socialism emphasizing the primacy of political action to regenerate his people and their continent But his vision of the political kingdom led quickly to the destruction of his Republic and his hopes Using the then latest evidence to examine political life parliament civil service farmers workers and army in Ghana's first Republic the author argues that Nkrumah's experiment failed because his rule was strong enough to distort traditional values but was unable to transform them The result was a bizarre and paralysing mixture of despotism and anarchy which defied political analysis in conventional terms

The Political Kingdom in Uganda David Ernest Apter, 1997 It is rare for a scholar to revisit the scene of earlier research with a view to evaluating how that research has stood up over time Here David E Apter does that and more In a lengthy new introductory chapter to this classic study of bureaucratic nationalism he reviews the efficacy of the concepts in his original study of Uganda of almost a century ago including some such as consociationalism which have entered into the mainstream of comparative politics

The Political Kingdom in Uganda David E. Apter, 2013-04-03 It is rare for a scholar to revisit the scene of earlier research with a view to evaluating how that research has stood up over time Here David E Apter does that and more In a lengthy new introductory chapter to this classic study of bureaucratic nationalism he reviews the efficacy of the concepts in his original study of Uganda of almost a century ago including some such as consociationalism which have entered into the mainstream of comparative politics Kwame Nkrumah Ebenezer Obiri Addo, 1997 Comprises a study of Ghana's first post colonial prime minister and president Kwame Nkrumah 1909 1972 focusing on his use of religion in the development of national integration and modernization among other political goals The author offers a historical account of religion and politics in Ghana draws on social political and anthropological theories to evaluate Nkrumah's leadership from several different angles and finally assesses Nkrumah's legacy Annotation copyrighted by Book News Inc Portland OR Africa United States. Congress. House. Committee on Foreign Affairs. Subcommittee on Africa,1995 Distributed to some depository libraries in microfiche State of the Continent John M. Fobanjong,2018-11-28 What precisely is the state of the African continent today Depending on one's perspective the answer may either dwell on Africa's recent economic and political accomplishments or focus on the long standing single story of failure disaster and eternal dictatorships This book provides a nuanced forceful and balanced assessment of Africa's political and economic performance since independence While acknowledging Africa's tragic pitfalls dating to the transatlantic slave trade and colonialism State of the Continent skillfully argues that theories associated with the dependency school are no longer enough to explain the continent's failures in governance and economic performance For a continent so richly blessed and endowed with both human and material resources the blame for Africa's lackluster performance falls squarely on its leadership To get things right Nkrumah's vision of the primacy of the political kingdom must be prioritized whereupon economic gains shall predictably follow In lucid and persuasive prose this volume is an ideal book for scholars as well as students of international studies and African politics

Explorations in African Political Thought Teodros Kiros,2013-10-23 This rich collection brings together many of the leading authorities on African political philosophy to present a variety of perspectives on this rapidly growing field They seek to show that African philosophy can serve African people as a moral activity guided by the principles of practical reason in addressing problems of the basic structures of social political and economic institutions Civil Society and the State in Africa John Willis Harbeson,Donald S. Rothchild,Naomi Chazan,1994 This text examines the potential value of the concept of civil society for enhancing the current understanding of state society relations in Africa The authors review the meanings of civil society in political philosophy as well as alternative approaches to employing the concept in African settings Considering both the patterns of emerging civil society in Africa and issues relating to its further development they give particular emphasis to the cases of Cote d'Ivoire Ghana Kenya Nigeria Sudan Tanzania Uganda and Zaire Afro-Optimism Ebere Onwudiwe,Minabere Ibelema,2002-12-30 The view that Africa regressed the moment that colonial governments left its shores is widespread This volume is a counterpoint to the orthodoxy Here 13 scholars with specializations ranging from literature and history to philosophy and economics argue that Africa has advanced since colonialism and is poised to march forward in spite of setbacks and disappointments The contributors to the book contend that development is about human beings so they do not rely exclusively on statistical estimates and projections Afro Optimism is a book with a simple thesis Africa is marching forward even if at times haltingly and at a different pace from the rest of the world A common view among journalists and academics alike is that African conditions declined the moment colonial governments left its shores The chapters in this book cover Africa's progress in health agriculture transportation cultural innovation and economic advancement The contributors to the book contend that development is about human beings so they do not rely exclusively on statistical estimates and projections The essays in this book discuss the advances African states have made in spite of and at times because of their experiences of European colonial rule The contributors argue that in all facets of development Africans had to overcome colonial obstacles or had to build on meager colonial foundations Although the authors acknowledge Africa's disappointing performance in various respects they stress throughout that exclusive concentration on African failures creates new and reinforces existing negative perceptions of contemporary Africa

Political Legitimacy in Middle Africa Michael G. Schatzberg, 2001-11-13 In this innovative work Michael G Schatzberg reads metaphors found in the popular press as indicators of the way Africans come to understand their political universe Examining daily newspapers popular literature and political and church documents he finds that widespread and deeply ingrained views of government and its relationship to its citizenry may be understood as a projection of the metaphor of an idealized extended family onto the formal political sphere

Contesting Art Jeremy MacClancy, 2020-08-27 Art is a major political weapon of our times Today peoples around the world use art to boost their own identity and to attack the ways others represent them At a time of increasing intercultural exchange art has become a primary means through which groups reinforce their challenged sense of culture This pioneering book breaks with the tradition of the anthropology of art as the depoliticized study of aesthetics in exotic settings Transcending artificial distinctions between the West and the Rest it examines the increasingly significant relations among art identity and politics in the modern world Among the themes investigated by the contributors how African painters undermine racist stereotypes yet remain dominated by the Western art market the role of anthropology museums in the perpetuation of the Western market in tribal art the internal and external political disputes underlying the repatriation of cultural property

Towards Africa's Renewal Jeggan C. Senghor, Nana.K. Poku, 2017-11-22 Africa still finds itself in the clutches of poverty and underdevelopment The expected benefits from economic restructuring have not been realized and the debt burden continues to weigh heavily on African economies constraining the possibilities of growth Problems that have existed since the 1960s remain and links with the global economy continue to increase but fall short of requirements Against this background it is not surprising that the vast majority of African states will not meet the Millennium Development Goals The search for political systems that can deliver development have been categorized by cynics as old wine in old bottles with new stickers As the dividends from globalization elude Africa in the 21st century it becomes clear that it is a series of failed states rogue states and even stateless states This volume brings together leading researchers and analysts to examine issues and identify policy options which can lead to renewal in Africa It provides an opportunity to reflect and offers a critical multidisciplinary appraisal of the future challenges facing Africa

The Politics of AIDS Håkan Thörn, 2008-04-01 HIV AIDS is the major political challenge of our time Based on empirical observations from all over the world this book examines how HIV AIDS has become increasingly transnational as nation states have extended their programmes across borders and transnational networks have increased their activities

Language and Power. The Implications of Language for Peace and Development Birgit Brock-Utne, Gunnar Garbo, 2009-09-15 Language is a tool used to express thoughts to hide thoughts or to hide lack of thoughts It is often a means of domination The question is who has the power to define the world around us This book demonstrates how language is being manipulated to form the minds of listeners or readers Innocent words may be used to conceal a reality which people would have reacted to had the phenomena been described in a straightforward manner The nice and innocent concept cost sharing which leads our thoughts to communal sharing and solidarity may actually imply privatization The false belief that the best way to learn a foreign language is to have it as a language of instruction actually becomes a strategy for stupidification of African pupils In this book 33 independent experts from 16 countries in the North and the South show how language may be used to legitimize war making promote Northern interests in the field of development and retain colonial speech as languages of instruction languages of the courts and in politics The book has been edited by two Norwegians Birgit Brock Utne is a professor at the University of Oslo and a consultant in education and development From 1987 until 1992 she was a professor at the University of Dar es Salaam Gunnar Garbo author and journalist and former member of the Norwegian Parliament was the Norwegian Ambassador to Tanzania from 1987 to 1992 A Commentary on "the Revelation of Jesus Christ." By J. H. John HOSKYNS

(M.D.), 1855 Cold War and Decolonization in Guinea, 1946-1958 Elizabeth Schmidt, 2007 Winner of the African Politics Conference Group's Best Book Award In September 1958 Guinea claimed its independence rejecting a constitution that would have relegated it to junior partnership in the French Community In all the French empire Guinea was the only territory to vote No Orchestrating the No vote was the Guinean branch of the Rassemblement D mocratique Africain RDA an alliance of political parties with affiliates in French West and Equatorial Africa and the United Nations trusts of Togo and Cameroon Although Guinea's stance vis vis the 1958 constitution has been recognized as unique until now the historical roots of this phenomenon have not been adequately explained Clearly written and free of jargon Cold War and Decolonization in Guinea argues that Guinea's vote for independence was the culmination of a decade long struggle between local militants and political leaders for control of the political agenda Since 1950 when RDA representatives in the French parliament severed their ties to the French Communist Party conservative elements had dominated the RDA In Guinea local cadres had opposed the break Victimized by the administration and sidelined by their own leaders they quietly rebuilt the party from the base Leftist militants their voices muted throughout most of the decade gained preeminence in 1958 when trade unionists students the party's women's and youth wings and other grassroots actors pushed the Guinean RDA to endorse a No vote Thus Guinea's rejection of the proposed constitution in favor of immediate independence was not an isolated aberration Rather it was the outcome of years of political mobilization by activists who despite Cold War repression ultimately pushed the Guinean RDA to the left The significance of this highly original book based on previously unexamined archival records and oral interviews with grassroots activists extends far beyond its primary subject In illuminating the Guinean case Elizabeth Schmidt helps us understand the dynamics of decolonization and its legacy for postindependence nation building in many parts of the developing world Examining Guinean history from the bottom up Schmidt considers local politics within the larger context of the Cold War making her book suitable for courses in African history and politics diplomatic history and Cold War history Seek Ye First the Political Kingdom Robert Hedborg Craig,1975
