To What Ends and By What Means Gloria M. Rodriguez, R. Anthony Rolle, 2013-10-31 This unique collection examines the social justice implications of contemporary economic finance and budgeting policies affecting the K 12 education system in the United States The authors included in this volume provide critiques and explorations of several established theories and policy approaches that undergird contemporary thinking in the field of school finance These explorations offer themselves as foundations for building new frameworks to understand how school finance policies might better support broader changes needed to improve the educational conditions faced by those individuals and groups traditionally underrepresented in economic political and social policy arenas

Learning-Focused Leadership in Action Michael S. Knapp, Meredith I. Honig, Margaret L. Plecki, Bradley S. Portin, Michael A. Copland, 2014-03-21 In an educational context where school and district performance is of increasing focus it is essential for leaders at all levels of the educational system to focus on improving student performance This volume zeros in on a promising set of strategies and practices for all leaders to motivate support and sustain learning in contemporary schools Learning Focused Leadership in Action explores what it means for educational leadership to be learning focused what this looks like in practice at both the school and district level and how such leadership changes can be set in motion Drawing on extensive case study research in schools and districts that are making progress on learning improvement this volume explores how leaders at all levels of the educational system can productively seek to improve the quality of learning opportunities and student performance no matter how challenging the circumstances

High Stakes Accountability Jennifer King Rice, Christopher Roellke, 2009-01-01 In this third volume of Research in Education Fiscal Policy and Practice editors Jennifer King Rice and Christopher Roellke have assembled a diversity of research studies focused on the current policy environment of high stakes accountability and how this context has impacted educators and students at multiple levels of the system This effort to leverage student performance through high stakes reform has accelerated and intensified considerably since the 2002 reauthorization of the federal Elementary and Secondary Education Act commonly referred to as No Child Left Behind NCLB In order for high stakes accountability reforms to realize their stated aims targeted schools must have or acquire the resources and capacity to meet prescribed performance standards Hess 1999 Malen Mintrop 2003 2004 Wong et al 1999 yet little systematic research has been assembled to document the implications of high stakes accountability systems on the resources and capacity of schools and school systems This book aims to fill that gap With this in mind authors were asked to pay specific attention to challenges school systems confront as a result of NCLB and other high stakes reforms The contributing authors were asked to think of policymakers and practitioners at local state and national levels as the intended audiences for their work Our contributors responded with a collection of studies examining the relationship between high stakes reform and school district staffing the recruitment and distribution of high quality teachers curriculum making and the provision of supplemental educational services to children Our book is organized into three sections The first provides a framework for assessing the impact of high stakes accountability policy on school capacity and also addresses implementation challenges at both state and local levels The second section focuses on the impact of federal and state policymaking on teacher staffing and workplace conditions The final section includes three chapters that provide a range of critiques on federal policymaking including legal challenges to NCLB
