First Industrial Region North West England C 1700 6:

The First Industrial Region Jon Stobart, 2004-04-03 This book has much to offer second and third year undergraduates postgraduates and researchers in economic social and urban history and historical geography Jacket Transport and the industrial city Peter Maw, 2018-02-28 This book presents the first scholarly study of the contribution of canals to Britain's industrial revolution Although the achievements of canal engineers remain central to popular understandings of industrialisation historians have been surprisingly reticent to analyse the full scope of the connections between canals transport and the first industrial revolution Focusing on Manchester Britain's major centre of both industrial and transport innovation it shows that canals were at the heart of the self-styled Cottonopolis Not only did canals move the key commodities of Manchester's industrial revolution coal corn and cotton but canal banks also provided the key sites for the factories that made Manchester the shock city of the early Victorian age This book will become essential reading for historians and students interested in the industrial revolution transport and the unique history of Manchester the world's first industrial city Loyalism and Radicalism in Lancashire, 1798-1815 Katrina Navickas, 2009-01-15 Loyalism and Radicalism in Lancashire 1798 1815 is a lively and detailed account of popular politics in Lancashire during the later years of the French Revolution and during the Napoleonic wars Drawing on a wide variety of sources such as letters diaries and broadside ballads it offers fresh insights into the complicated dynamics between radicalism loyalism and patriotism and emphasises Lancashire's distinctive political culture and its place at the heart of the industrial revolution This region witnessed some of the most intense disruptive and violent popular politics in this period and beyond Highly active and vocal groups emerged extreme republicans more moderate radicals Luddites early trade unionists and also strong networks of Church and King loyalists and Orange lodges Katrina Navickas explains how this heady mix created a politically charged region where both local and national affairs played their part She follows the inner workings of popular political activity in response to both internal and external threats including loyalist processions and civic events volunteer corps formed as defence against invasion food riots strikes by trade unions and both secret and public meetings on the key issues of peace and parliamentary reform Navickas argues for a distinct sense of regional identity that shaped not only local politics but also patriotism Lancastrians felt British in the face of the French but it was a particularly Lancastrian type of Britishness The British Cotton Trade, 1660-1815 Vol 3 Beverly Lemire, 2021-12-24 First published in 2010 Cotton was the first industrialized global trade This four volume reset edition charts the rise of British trade in cotton from the days of small scale trading between the Middle East and India to the domination of British led industrialized manufacture Volume 3 Part III contains Establishing a British Cotton Trade c 1730 1815 The First Century of Welfare Jonathan Healey, 2014 The first major regional study of poverty and its relief in the seventeenth century the first century of welfare The English Old Poor Law was the first national system of tax funded social welfare in the world It provided a safety net for hundreds of thousands of paupers at a time of very limited national wealth and productivity The First Century of Welfare which focusses on the poor but developing county of Lancashire provides the first major regional study of poverty and its relief in the seventeenth century Drawing on thousands of individual petitions for poor relief presented by paupers themselves to magistrates it peers into the social and economic world of England's marginal people Taken together these records present a vivid and sobering picture of the daily lives and struggles of the poor We can see how their family life their relations with their kin and their neighbours and the dictates of contemporary gender norms conditioned their lives We can also see how they experienced illness and physical and mental disability and the ways in which real people's lives could be devastated by dearth trade depression and the destruction of the Civil Wars But the picture is not just one of poor folk tossed by the tides of fortune It is also one of agency about the strategies of economic survival the poor adopted particularly in the context of a developing industrial economy of the support they gained from their relatives and neighbours and of their willingness to engage with England's developing system of social welfare to ensure that they and their families did not go hungry In this book an intensely human picture surfaces of what it was like to experience poverty at a time when the seeds of state social welfare were being planted JONATHAN HEALEY is University Lecturer in English Local and Social History and Fellow of Kellogg College University of Oxford

A Cultural History of Hair in the Age of Enlightenment Margaret K. Powell, Joseph Roach, 2020-12-10 Hair or lack of it is one the most significant identifiers of individuals in any society In Antiquity the power of hair to send a series of social messages was no different This volume covers nearly a thousand years of history from Archaic Greece to the end of the Roman Empire concentrating on what is now Europe North Africa and the Near East Among the key issues identified by its authors is the recognition that in any given society male and female hair tend to be opposites when male hair is generally short women's is long that hair is a marker of age and stage of life children and young people have longer less confined hairstyles adult hair is far more controlled hair can be used to identify the other in terms of race and ethnicity but also those who stand outside social norms such as witches and mad women The chapters in A Cultural History of Hair in Antiquity cover the following topics religion and ritualized belief self and society fashion and adornment production and practice health and hygiene gender and sexuality race and ethnicity class and social status and cultural representations

The Diary of Edmund Harrold, Wigmaker of Manchester 1712-15 Craig Horner, 2017-05-15 The survival of Edmund Harrold's diary for the years 1712-1715 is a remarkable piece of luck for historians Not only are such diaries for the middling sort rare for this period but few provide so candid an insight into the everyday concerns and troubles of early eighteenth century life Providing a full transcription of the diary with a substantial introduction and scholarly references this edition the first since a partial transcription in the nineteenth century offers a unique insight into both a troubled individual and the society in which he lived and worked Born in 1678 Edmund Harrold seems to have worked his whole life in Manchester as a barber and wigmaker with a sideline in book dealing The period covered by his diary although short is rich in its insights into his life and thoughts It lays open his struggles with alcohol his attitudes to and frequency of marital sex his reactions to the death of his three wives and 5 children and his religious meditations upon these and other subjects The diary also relates the ups and downs of his business together with the day to day realities of a provincial barber from cutting hair to wig making to unblocking the nipples of wet nurses the only medical service he records performing What emerges from these pages is a fascinating snapshot into the social professional and private life of an impoverished inhabitant of Manchester during a period of profound social and economic change It is impossible to read the diary without developing some sense of empathy with this troubled man but more than this it puts flesh onto the bones of history reminding us that the people we read about and study were all individuals High culture and tall chimneys James Moore,2018-04-03 This new study examines how nineteenth century industrial Lancashire became a leading national and international art centre By the end of the century almost every major town possessed an art gallery while Lancashire art schools and artists were recognised at home and abroad The book documents the remarkable rise of visual art across the county along with the rise of the commercial and professional classes who supported it It examines how Lancashire looked to great civilisations of the past for inspiration while also embracing new industrial technologies and distinctively modern art movements This volume will be essential reading for all those with an interest in the new industrial society of the nineteenth century from art lovers and collectors to urban and social historians Industrial Enlightenment Peter M. Jones,2017-10-03 Industrial Enlightenment explores the transition through which England passed between 1760 and 1820 on the way to becoming the world's first industrialised nation In drawing attention to the important role played by scientific knowledge it focuses on a dimension of this transition which is often overlooked by historians The book argues that in certain favoured regions England underwent a process whereby useful knowledge was fused with technological know how to produce the condition described here as Industrial Enlightenment At the forefront of the process were the natural philosophers who entered into a close and productive relationship with technologists and entrepreneurs Much of the evidence for this study is drawn from the extraordinary archival record of the activities of Matthew Boulton 1728 1809 and his Soho Manufactory The book will appeal to those keen to explore the dynamics of change in eighteenth century England and to those with a broad interest in the cultural history of science and technology Transitions to Capitalism in Early Modern Europe Robert S. DuPlessis,2019-09-26 Revised updated and expanded this second edition analyzes the structures and practices of European economies within a global context Cotton Giorgio Riello,2015-04-16 Today's world textile and garment trade is valued at a staggering 425 billion We are told that under the pressure of increasing globalisation it is India and China that are the new world manufacturing powerhouses However this is not a new phenomenon until the industrial revolution Asia manufactured great quantities of colourful printed cottons that were sold to places as far afield as Japan West Africa and Europe Cotton explores this earlier globalised economy and its transformation after 1750 as cotton led the way in the industrialisation of Europe By the early nineteenth century India China and the Ottoman Empire switched from world producers to buyers of European cotton textiles a position that they retained for over two hundred years This is a fascinating and insightful story which ranges from Asian and European technologies and African slavery to cotton plantations in the Americas and consumer desires across the globe Writing local history John Beckett, 2013-07-19 This fascinating book looks at how local history developed from the antiquarian county studies of the sixteenth century through the growth of professional history in the nineteenth century to the recent past Concentrating on the past sixty years it looks at the opening of archive offices the invigorating influence of family history the impact of adult education and other forms of lifelong learning The author considers the debates generated by academics including the divergence of views over local and regional issues and the importance of standards set by the Victoria County History VCH Also discussed is the fragmentation of the subject The antiquarian tradition included various subject areas that are now separate disciplines among them industrial archaeology name studies family landscape and urban history This is an authoritative account of how local history has come to be one of the most popular and productive intellectual pastimes in our modern society Written by a practitioner who has spent more than twenty years teaching local history to undergraduates and M A students as well as lecturing to local history societies John Beckett is currently Director of the VCH A remarkable book that will be of great interest to students and scholars of local history as well as amateur and professional genealogists Entrepreneurial Families Andrew Popp, 2015-10-06 Entrepreneurship is increasingly being recognized as an important facet of economic history Popp examines the Shaw family business to present a study of entrepreneurship that puts the family centre stage Anthropology and Climate Change Susan A. Crate, Mark Nuttall, 2023-11-30 In this third edition of Anthropology and Climate Change Susan Crate and Mark Nuttall offer a collection of chapters that examine how anthropologists work on climate change issues with their collaborators both in academic research and practicing contexts and discuss new developments in contributions to policy and adaptation at different scales Building on the first edition's pioneering focus on anthropology's burgeoning contribution to climate change research policy and action as well as the second edition's focus on transformations and new directions for anthropological work on climate change this new edition reveals the extent to which anthropologists' contributions are considered to be critical by climate scientists policymakers affected communities and other rights holders Drawing on a range of ethnographic and policy issues this book highlights the work of anthropologists in the full range of contexts as scholars educators and practitioners from academic institutions to government bodies international science agencies and foundations working in interdisciplinary research teams and with community research partners The contributions to this new edition showcase important new academic research as well as applied and practicing approaches They emphasize human agency in the archaeological record the rapid development in the last decade of community based and community driven research and disaster research provide rich ethnographic insight into worldmaking practices interventions and collaborations and discuss how and in what ways anthropologists work in policy areas and engage with regional and global assessments This new edition is essential for established scholars and for students in anthropology and a range of other disciplines including environmental studies as well as for practitioners who engage with anthropological studies of climate change in their work

Civilization Critical Darrin Qualman, 2019-05-14T00:00:00Z The modern world is wondrous Its factories produce ten thousand cars every hour and ten trillion transistors every second We carry supercomputers in our pockets and nearly a million people are in the air at any time In Civilization Critical Darrin Qualman takes readers on a tour of the wonders of the 21st century But the great strength of our modern world is also its great weakness Our immense powers to turn resources and nature into products and waste imperil our future And plans to double and redouble the size of the global economy veto sustainability So is our civilization doomed No Doom is a choice We can make different choices Qualman demonstrates that a 19th and 20th century transition to linear systems and away from the circular patterns of nature and of all previous civilizations is the foundational error the underlying problem the root cause of climate change resource depletion oceans full of plastics and a host of mega problems now intensifying and merging with potentially civilization cracking results In this sweeping work Qualman reinterprets and re-explains the problems we face today and charts a clear hopeful path into the future
