Japan Times. Weekly Edition ,1912      Punishment and Power in the Making of Modern Japan Daniel V. Botsman,2013-10-24 The kinds of punishment used in a society have long been considered an important criterion in judging whether a society is civilized or barbaric advanced or backward modern or premodern Focusing on Japan and the dramatic revolution in punishments that occurred after the Meiji Restoration Daniel Botsman asks how such distinctions have affected our understanding of the past and contributed in turn to the proliferation of new kinds of barbarity in the modern world While there is no denying the ferocity of many of the penal practices in use during the Tokugawa period 1600 1868 this book begins by showing that these formed part of a sophisticated system of order that did have its limits Botsman then demonstrates that although significant innovations occurred later in the period they did not fit smoothly into the modernization process Instead he argues the Western powers forced a break with the past by using the specter of Oriental barbarism to justify their own aggressive expansion into East Asia The ensuing changes were not simply imposed from outside however The Meiji regime soon realized that the modern prison could serve not only as a symbol of Japan's international progress but also as a powerful domestic tool The first English language study of the history of punishment in Japan the book concludes by examining how modern ideas about progress and civilization shaped penal practices in Japan's own colonial empire      French Policy Towards the Bakufu and Meiji Japan 1854-95 Richard Sims,1998 Little serious work has been done on the policies towards Japan of countries other than the US or Britain in the seminal Meiji period This study looks to fill this gap by investigating French policy from the opening of Japan to the Japanese triumph in the Sino Japanese war      The Trans-pacific Benjamin Wilfried Fleisher,1922      The School of Oriental and African Studies Ian Brown,2016-07-21 A history of the School of Oriental and African Studies in London from its foundation in 1916      The Constitutional Development of Japan. 1853-1881 Toyokichi Iyenaga,1891      The Japan Chronicle ,1912      The North-China Herald & Supreme Court & Consular Gazette ,1912      Japanese History Robert Miller Spaulding,1962      The Far Eastern Republic ,1920      Early Modernization of Chinese Education Zhengping Tian,2025-08-13 This book offers readers a comprehensive overview of the Chinese educational modernization process during which thousands of Chinese students studied overseas to find solutions for the reform of feudal education The led to significant educational modernization between 1860 and 1940 Five topics are covered the reasons Chinese students studied overseas the three vital transmissions of the overseas study trend during these 80 years returning students and the establishment and development of modern Chinese education science overseas students and Chinese modern educational reform and returning students and the establishment and development of the modern Chinese higher education system The book is of interest to high school students undergraduates and graduates in the fields of Chinese modern history and culture Chinese educational modernization and modern Chinese education reform      An Intellectual Portrait of Gustave Lebon Robert A.
