Photography in 100 Words David Clark, 2009 The question What is photography is not an easy one to answer. Many thousands of words have been written in an effort to do so in academic journals and in books by cultural commentators such as Susan Sontag and Roland Barthes. If we acknowledge that it is impossible to provide a definitive answer, can we at least distil the meaning of photography into somewhat fewer words and get to the very essence of the medium without diminishing its importance as an art form? This book aims to do just that. David Clark has selected 50 iconic images by some of the world's greatest photographers and asked them to explain how the pictures were made and their creative approach. From these interviews, he has chosen 100 words that encapsulate their philosophy and which are picked out in bold in the text. The highlighted words work on two levels. As well as giving insights into iconic images from the photographers who took them, they build over the course of the book into a unique creative lexicon of the photographic medium, one which crystallises its many aims and functions, perspectives and meanings. Thought-provoking, insightful and inspirational. Photography in 100 Words will appeal to all photographers and anyone who seeks a better understanding of the medium. David Clark is a photography journalist and author. He was the senior features writer on Amateur Photographer magazine for nine years, during which time he met and interviewed many of the world's great photographers. Photographing the Aurora Borealis, 2017-03-20. Award-winning photographer and accomplished instructor Andy Long provides a comprehensive guide to photographing the Aurora Borealis. It reads like everything they need to know about photographing this phenomenon, along with some very special techniques designed to help kick their image-making up to the next level. Long covers all the details, from simply understanding the aurora and figuring out when and where to shoot, to picking the right gear to maximize your success, to processing your digital files after the shoot to maximize your results. You'll learn how to capture the moon, star trails, and Milky Way in your images of the aurora, and even how to produce dazzling time-lapse images. Also covered are practical matters like coping with long, cold night-time shoots and the equipment problems that can accompany them, and optimizing camera settings to reduce noise, maximize detail, and enhance downplay lens distortion. Secret Journeys of a Lifetime National Geographic, 2011. Secret Journeys of a Lifetime presents 500 off the beaten path travel destinations around the world that are notable for their vistas, wildlife, and historical and cultural significance. The Art of Nature Photography Niall Benzie, 2000.
