The Challenge of Children's Rights for Canada, 2nd edition Katherine Covell, R. Brian Howe, J.C. Blokhuis, 2018-08-30 More than a quarter of a century has passed since Canada promised to recognize and respect the rights of children under the United Nations Convention on the Rights of the Child Ratification of the Convention cannot however guarantee that everyone will abandon proprietary notions about children or that all children will be free to enjoy the substance of their rights in every social and institutional context in which they find themselves including and perhaps especially within families This disconnect remains one of the most important challenges to the recognition of children's rights in Canada The authors argue that social toxins are as harmful to children's independent welfare and developmental interests as environmental toxins and that both must be eradicated if Canada is to fulfill its commitments under the Convention They also argue that if Canada wishes to ensure the substance of the rights outlined in the Convention are socially guaranteed an attitudinal or cultural shift is required concerning the moral and legal status of children This revised expanded and updated edition of the bestselling Challenge of Children's Rights for Canada will be of interest to academics policymakers parents teachers social workers and human service professionals indeed to anyone who cares about and for children

Of Human Born Caroline Arni, 2024-03-12 A new history of the concept of fetal life in the human sciences At a time when the becoming of a human being in a woman's body has once again become a fraught issue from abortion debates and surrogacy controversies to prenatal diagnoses and assessments of fetal risk Of Human Born presents the largely unknown history of how the human sciences came to imagine the unborn in terms of life before birth Caroline Arni shows how these sciences created the concept of fetal life by way of experimenting on animals pregnant women and newborns how they worried about the influence of the expectant mother's living conditions and how they lingered on the question of the beginnings of human subjectivity Such were the concerns of physiologists pediatricians psychologists and psychoanalysts as they advanced the novel discipline of embryology while at the same time grappling with age old questions about the coming into being of a human person Of Human Born thus draws attention to the fundamental way in which modern approaches to the unborn have been intertwined with the configuration of the human in the age of scientific empiricism Arni revises the narrative that the modern embryo is quintessentially an embryo disembedded from the pregnant woman's body On the contrary she argues that the concept of fetal life cannot be separated from its dependency on the maternal organism countering the rhetorical discourses that have fueled the recent rollback of abortion rights in the United States

StoryFrames Cynthia Pelman, 2023-12-07 StoryFrames supporting silent children in the classroom How does a teacher support a child who has recently arrived at school speaking another language and who remains completely silent at school for weeks or months not participating in class and not even playing with other children The child's parents often report that the child speaks and plays normally at home with their family and with other children who speak the child's language These children undergoing the Silent Period are usually children who have relocated from another country either voluntarily or as refugees or migrants For a variety of reasons these children do not have the resilience needed to cope with the many changes and anxieties they have experienced The losses for these children are more than the loss of familiar faces places and conversations the loss of their home language is experienced as a loss of the self they had known before the relocation The psychoanalytic theories of Colette Granger provide a way to understand the experiences of these migrant children The StoryFrames book sets out an easy to follow low cost method of supporting these children enabling them to emerge from their silence and to play with other children The book is written by a speech and language therapist but any teacher social worker or volunteer who is experienced in working with young children can run this programme The methodology of this programme is grounded in the developmental theories of Winnicott and Vygotsky and as such it stresses the nature and quality of the teacher child relationship which is at the core of this kind of work The book explores the feelings not only of the child in this situation but also of the teacher working with such a child such a teacher must deal with their own anxieties about what the child is experiencing and about whether they as the teacher who is expected to solve these problems could be doing something different The StoryFrames method is not only for second language learners It has been successfully used with children who have a wide range of communication disabilities Children with Developmental Language Disorder children who stutter children with intellectual disabilities and Highly Sensitive Children have all benefited from the use of this programme which uses narrative and pretend play to help the child to develop linguistic and cognitive skills as well as to have the confidence needed to communicate with others in spite of the difficulties This book is an invaluable source of information for anyone wanting to understand the nature of the teacher or speech therapist's relationship with children with communication difficulties and should be essential reading for trainee speech and language therapists as well as for teachers training in early years education
