Dubinsky, E. Schonberg, 2012-12-06 The programming language SETL is a relatively new member of the so called very high level class of languages some of whose other well known members are LISP APL SNOBOL and PROLOG These languages all aim to reduce the cost of programming recognized today as a main obstacle to future progress in the computer field by allowing direct manipulation of large composite objects considerably more complex than the integers strings etc available in such well known mainstream languages as PASCAL PL I ALGOL and Ada For this purpose LISP introduces structured lists as data objects APL introduces vectors and matrices and SETL introduces the objects characteristic for it namely general finite sets and maps The direct availability of these abstract composite objects and of powerful mathematical operations upon them improves programmer speed and productivity significantly and also enhances program clarity and readability The classroom consequence is that students freed of some of the burden of petty programming detail can advance their knowledge of significant algorithms and of broader strategic issues in program development more rapidly than with more conventional programming languages
