The First World War, 1914-1918 Gerd Hardach, 1981 The First World War unquestionably represents an important climacteric in economic history However the significance of that climacteric is variously interpreted Essentially there are four themes whose order of priority depends on the observer s view point the decay of the classical capitalist world economy based on Great Britain and the gold standard the progress of industrialisation overseas brought about by the temporary economic paralysis of Europe the long term effect of structural changes in the economies of the warring industrial countries more especially the merging of the economy and the apparatus of state finally the development of the international labour movement from its nadir in August 1914 to its triumphant culmination of the Russian October Revolution I have endeavoured to the best of my ability to do justice to these various aspects and to place them in a common context which might be described as the crisis of the capitalist world economy
