Twentieth-century German Painting Peter Vergo, 1992 Movement, Manifesto, Melee Milton A. Cohen, 2004-01-01 The years before World War I were a fertile period for artists in Europe and the United States who were challenging aesthetic convention in music writing and the visual arts These early pioneers of modernism sometimes preferred to work alone but just as often they were associated with groups whose boundaries were permeable and freely changing While these individual groups_ including the Futurists Imagists Blue Rider and the Second Vienna School_ have been thoroughly studied scholars of the period have often neglected the formative and pervasive interactions of these groups across geographic and artistic boundaries Providing a historical taxonomy of this influential milieu Milton Cohen demonstrates how these groups were largely responsible for the artistic innovation and nearly all the avant garde agitation and major events of these years
