Malcolm Muggeridge

Eye And Seeing:

Seeing Through the Eye Malcolm Muggeridge, 2005 Malcolm Muggeridge was one of Great Britain's most well known journalists and television personalities having interviewed practically every major public figure of his time. He shocked the world with his conversion to Christianity later in life. St Mugg as he was affectionately known was clear in his new found faith. It is the truth that has died not God and Jesus was God or he was nothing. These wonderful selections of Muggeridge's writings and speeches cover a wide variety of spiritual themes revealing his profound faith, great wit and lively writing style. Topics include Jesus, The Man Who Lives, Is There a God, The Prospect of Death, Do We Need Religion, Peace and Power and many more. The counter countercultural declaration of Mr Muggeridge's conversion was especially eye catching given the great legions traveling in the opposite direction. His larger public knew him through his work as a television host and critic. But all of literate England and much of America knew him as a learned and incisive journalist who had written Winter in Moscow a searing exposé of Communism. His intellect and historical savoir faire gave his criticisms a very long reach. In America he made regular appearances as book editor of Esquire magazine. No Englishman has a more mordant more attractive wit.

Wilson, 2015 New Testament scholars typically assume that the men who pervade the pages of Luke's two volumes are models of an implied manliness Scholars rarely question how Lukan men measure up to ancient masculine mores even though masculinity is increasingly becoming a topic of inquiry in the field of New Testament and its related disciplines Drawing especially from gender critical work in classics Brittany Wilson addresses this lacuna by examining key male characters in Luke Acts in relation to constructions of masculinity in the Greco Roman world Of all Luke's male characters Wilson maintains that four in particular problematize elite masculine norms namely Zechariah the father of John the Baptist the Ethiopian eunuch Paul and above all Jesus She further explains that these men do not protect their bodily boundaries nor do they embody corporeal control two interrelated male gender norms Indeed Zechariah loses his ability to speak the Ethiopian eunuch is castrated Paul loses his ability to see and Jesus is put to death on the cross With these bodily violations Wilson argues Luke points to the all powerful nature of God and in the process reconfigures or refigures men's own claims to power Luke however not only refigures the so called prerogative of male power but he refigures the parameters of power itself According to Luke God provides an alternative construal of power in the figure of Jesus and thus redefines what it means to be masculine Thus for Luke real men look manifestly unmanly Wilson's findings in Unmanly Men will shatter long held assumptions in scholarly circles and beyond about gendered interpretations of the New Testament and how they can be used to understand the roles of the Bible's key characters
