Wiederhold, Pietro Cipresso, 2015-01-01 Using a novel approach to consider the available literature and research this book focuses on the psychology of social media based on the assumption that the experience of being in a social media has an impact on both our identity and social relationships In order to be online an individual has to create an online presence they have to share information about themselves online This online self is presented in different ways with diverse goals and aims in order to engage in different social media activities and to achieve desired outcomes Whilst this may not be a real physical presence that physicality is becoming increasingly replicated through photos video and ever evolving ways of defining and describing the self online Moreover individuals are using both PC based and mobile based social media as well as increasingly making use of photo and video editing tools to carefully craft and manipulate their online self This book therefore explores current debates in Cyberpsychology drawing on the most up to date theories and research to explore four main aspects of the social media experience communication identity presence and relationships In doing so it considers the interplay of different areas of psychological research with current technological and security insight into how individuals create manipulate and maintain their online identity and relationships The social media are therefore at the core of every chapter with the common thread throughout being the very unique approach to considering diverse and varied online behaviours that may not have been thus far considered from this perspective It covers a broad range of both positive and negative behaviours that have now become integrated into the daily lives of many westernised country s Internet users giving it an appeal to both scholarly and industry readers alike

Global Perspectives on Health Communication in the Age of Social Media Sekalala, Seif,Niezgoda, Brandon C.,2018-02-09 Numerous studies suggest that people with a variety of health concerns are increasingly turning to online networks for social support As a result the number of online support communities has risen over the past two decades Global Perspectives on Health Communication in the Age of Social Media is a critical scholarly resource that examines the illness and pain and suffering narrative of health communication Featuring coverage on a broad range of topics such as social networks patient empowerment and e health this book is geared towards professionals and researchers in health informatics as well as students practitioners clinicians and academics

The Great Mistake Christopher Newfield,2016-11-15 A powerful hopeful critique of the unnecessary death spiral of higher education The Great Mistake is essential reading for those who wonder why students have been paying more to get less and for everyone who cares about the role the higher education system plays in improving the lives of average Americans Helen Small author of The Value of the Humanities Los Angeles Review of Books

Media/Theory Shaun Moores,2007-05-07 From an established author with a growing international profile in media studies Media Theory is an accessible yet challenging guide to ways of thinking about media and communications in modern life Shaun Moores draws on ideas from a range of disciplines in the humanities and social sciences and expertly connects the analysis of media and communications with key themes in contemporary social theory Examining core issues of time and space Moores also examines matters of interactions signification and identity and argues that media studies is bound up in the wider processes of the modern world and not just about studying the media This book makes a distinctive contribution towards rethinking the shape and direction of media studies today and for students at advanced undergraduate or postgraduate level
