From A Broken Web:

From a Broken Web Catherine Keller,1988-11-09 Even From A Broken Web Bill O'Hanlon,Bob Bertolino,1998-04-06 The terrible emotional aftereffects suffered by victims of sexual abuse are well established and according to conventional therapeutic wisdom can only be treated through years of traditional therapy using regression and catharsis Even from a Broken Web offers an effective alternative for clinicians working with these clients a solution oriented approach that is respectful collaborative flexible and in most cases mercifully brief Rather than continually revisiting the past and focusing on the problem Even from a Broken Web proposes a way for sexual abuse victims to move into the present and the future escaping repetitive patterns of thinking perception feeling action and interaction First outlining the 3 D aftereffects of sexual abuse Dissociation Disowning and Devaluing Bill O Hanlon and Bob Bertolino explain three pathways out of these emotional ruts First solution oriented inner work helps clients rediscover aspects of daily experience they have devalued By imagining themselves thinking feeling and doing things in different ways clients next create a compelling vision of themselves in the future The final pathway includes identifying and changing existing patterns of thought and behavior Each of these pathways enables clients to use and develop strengths skills and resources they already possess Once the client discovers these pathways the journey to solution can be remarkably swift The process of discovering these abilities requires therapists to work with clients as opposed to directing them The authors provide numerous examples of how to practice solution oriented therapy with individuals couples and groups and they demonstrate how to apply solution oriented techniques in a variety of situations Theological Anthropology in the Anthropocene Jan-Olav Henriksen,2022-12-14 The Anthropocene presents theology and especially theological anthropology with unprecedented challenges There are no immediately available resources in the theological tradition that reflect directly on such experiences Accordingly the situation calls for contextually based theological reflection of what it means to be human under such circumstances This book discusses the main elements in theological anthropology in light of the fundamental points a that theological anthropology needs to be articulated with reference to and informed by the concrete historical circumstances in which humanity presently finds itself and b that the notion of the Anthropocene can be used as a heuristic tool to describe important traits and conditions that call for a response by humanity and which entail the need for a renewal of what a Christian self understanding means Jan Olav Henriksen explores what such a response entails from the point of view of contemporary theological anthropology and discusses selected topics that can contribute to a contextually based position Law's Relations Jennifer Nedelsky,2011-10-11 Jennifer Nedelsky claims that we must rethink our notion of autonomy rejecting the usual vocabulary of control boundaries and individual rights If we understand that we are fundamentally in relation to others she argues we will recognize that we become autonomous with others Wounded Images Kristine M. Whaley,2024-03-27 This volume works through deconstructing traditional models of the imago Dei in search of a more inclusive understanding of the doctrine one that allows for literature to bring important questions to bear Brief analyses of Karl Barth and Paul Tillich and then growing dissatisfaction with the two in various liberation theologies brings to light the problems of a perfected image of God An exploration of four novels by Jean Rhys between 1928 and 1939 then follows the footsteps of Katie Cannon and others who include literature in their theological work The Rhys novels follow tragic stories of women who are wounded both by others and by their own inability to see themselves as worthy Through the questions these women ask about themselves and God the reconstruction of the imago Dei is set up This reconstruction centers trauma wounds and a non contrastive transcendence that Kathryn Tanner defines Ultimately it is not in how we are perfect but rather through our risks our wounds and even our grief that we connect to God

The Bonds of Freedom Rebekah L. Miles, 2001-08-23 In this constructive study Miles proposes a new feminist theological ethic drawing together the contributions of Reinhold Niebuhr Sharon Welch and Rosemary Ruether Seeking to critically reappropriate the Christian realism articulated by Niebuhr she reinterprets solutions to problems emergent from his theology Miles presents feminist Christian realism as an alternative that can reclaim a positive interpretation of divine transcendence and human self transcendence while maintaining newer emphases on human boundedness and divine immanence Theologians and ethicists will find her critical reassessment of the three authors distinctive and her challenging proposal for a positive creative transformation a significant contribution to the development of feminist ethics

The Spirit of American Liberal Theology Gary Dorrien, 2023-09-05 The Spirit of American Liberal Theology is an interpretation of the entire U S American tradition of liberal theology A highly condensed and far more accessible summary of Gary Dorrien s three volume trilogy The Making of American Liberal Theology Westminster John Knox Press 2001 2003 and 2006 Dorrien here presses the argument that the most abundant diverse and persistent tradition of liberal theology is the one that blossomed in the United States and is still refashioning itself While discussions of English and German liberalism persist new material includes expanded treatment of the Black social gospel the Universalists developments into early 2020s and a robust expression of the author s post Hegelian liberal liberationist perspective

Down to Earth Richard Floyd, 2015-08-18 In the face of climate change and ecological diminishment how can we hope that creation itself good and beautiful marked by tragedy and chaos is taken up rather than left behind Can a Christian vision which has at times been drunk on eschatological dreams or nightmares that consign this world and most of its creatures to destruction foster an earthly hope Jurgen Moltmann and Sallie McFague offer two contemporary possibilities for an ecological eschatology Floyd critiques both of these theological visions and traces an alternative that is both humble grounded in the humus the dirt and hopeful grounded in divine creativity arguing that a down to earth hope is grounded finally in beauty the beauty of the other that draws out the self the beauty of the redeemed self coming out to meet the other and the beauty of God that lures forth ever new possibilities and gathers up all the beautiful and broken creatures into the deepest possible harmony

Fragments for Fractured Times

Nicola Slee, 2020-09-30 If ever a period of time felt fractured it is now. Whichever way we turn we witness the dismembering and fracturing of many previously taken for granted realities with maps and borders physical and metaphorical being redrawn before our eyes. What place for the feminist practical theologian in such a climate? In Fragments for Fractured Times one of the world's leading feminist practical theologians Nicola Slee brings together 15 years of papers, articles, talks, and sermons, many of them previously unpublished. Collected from diverse times, places, settings, and occasions, Slee offers an introduction to each fragment, holding it up to the light and examining its size, shape, texture, and pattern. Drawing on a wide and diverse range of her writing, Slee demonstrates the richness and variety of feminist practical theological writing. What feminist theology brings to the table of scholarly thinking and embodied practice, she suggests, is something creative, artful, prophetic, as well as playful, a resource for Christian living and thinking in fractured times. Christian Theology in Practice

Bonnie J. Miller-McLemore, 2012-02-02 For the past fifty years, scholars in both pastoral and practical theology have attempted to recapture human religious experience and practice as essential sites for theological engagement, redefining in the process what theology is, how it is done, and who does it. In this book, Bonnie J. Miller-McLemore shows how this trend in scholarship has led to an expanded subject matter, alternative ways of knowing, and richer terms for analysis in doing Christian theology. Tracing more than two decades of her own search for a more inclusive discipline, one that truly grapples with theology in the midst of life, Christian Theology in Practice shows not only where Miller-McLemore herself has traveled in the field but also how pastoral and practical theology has developed during this time. Looking forward, Miller-McLemore calls on the academy and Christian congregations to disrupt conventional theological boundaries and to acknowledge the multiplicity of shapes and places in which the wisdom of God appears.
