European Social Model Assar Lindbeck,2008-06 Developing countries esp the least developed ones have more to learn from social policies in Europe during the early 20th cent than from the elaborate welfare state arrangements after WW2 In addition to macro economic growth and stability the main ambitions must be to fight human deprivation incl illiteracy malnutrition and poor access to water and sanitation in some cases also weak incompetent and or corrupt governments Informal systems in the fields of transfers and social services must not be destroyed when developing countries embark on more formal systems The European experience also warns against the creation of social systems that are so generous that disincentives and receding social norms distort the nat economy Role of Infrastructure in Land-Use Dynamics and Rice Production in Viet Nam's Mekong River Delta Christopher Edmonds,2008-06 Examines the role of infrastructure development and technical change in explaining increases in agricultural production and changes in land use in the Mekong Delta Region of Viet Nam during the mid 1990s The transportation costs involved in moving agricultural input and output between farms and markets significantly effect farm land use and production decisions Greater transport costs reduce the likelihood that farms adopt intensive cropping patterns or cultivate non rice crops Results suggest that the quality of local water management infrastructure is much more important than transport costs in explaining the increased intensity of land use and level of production observed in the Mekong Delta during the 1990s Illustrations Horticultural Exports of Developing Countries Nurul Islam,1990-01-01 Development and Underdevelopment John P.
