Extremadura Castilla La Mancha:

Spain International Monetary Fund. European Dept.,2018-11-21 This Selected Issues paper on Spain focuses on differences in regional productivity Recent studies of income convergence among Spanish regions suggest that the convergence has been slow since 1980 reflecting persistent regional disparities in total factor productivity The empirical analysis employing stochastic frontier models finds that among other factors differences in regions skills mismatch and technology absorption capacity could be behind the disparities A benchmarking exercise demonstrates significant potential growth benefits from policy measures that would bring regions closer to the frontier Regional income disparities driven by differences in total factor productivity TFP and unemployment while not large compared with European peers have been persistent in recent years The economy s overall productivity frontier moved inward overtime but this trend has slowed down after the crisis The inward shift of the production frontier could be one of the explanations for the negative TFP growth observed before the crisis Active labor market policies at the regional level could also work toward addressing skills mismatch and education outcomes

Housing Economy Colin Jones,Michael White,Neil Dunse,2012-05-29 This timely book addresses key challenges faced by policy makers and the house building industry in a post credit crunch world It examines the implications for households the housing market the economy as well as for government's policy choices Challenges of the Housing Economy an international perspective brings together experts from around the world to examine recent housing market trends The contributions reveal common long term trends in housing markets worldwide Despite differences in supply conditions and the role of planning there is a trend toward rising house prices that has created significant barriers to home ownership for young households while increasing the wealth of older generations The financial crisis had a differential impact on housing markets but in many countries where mortgage finance became severely constrained house prices fell and there was a dramatic fall in housing construction The falls in house prices in these countries have ostensibly improved affordability but the housing markets have been dominated by the lowering of loan to values applicable to new mortgages which has further raised the hurdles to potential first time purchasers At the same time as young households are increasingly rationed out of owner occupation public sector expenditure cut backs in many countries result in limited new social housing Instead value for money imperatives will mean new funding models for affordable housing that require greater use of public private partnerships The private rented sector could potentially meet the demand for the new generation of long term renters However there are doubts in the UK at least that this sector will be able to expand significantly or provide an appropriate type and standard of housing This is an essential advanced text for students and researchers of land economy and land management property and real estate housing policy and urban studies

The Political and Social Contexts of Health Vicente Navarro, 2020-11-26 This analysis of the political and social forces that shape the well being and quality of life of populations in developed capitalist countries is written by scholars based in several different countries The book shows how the varying political traditions in the developed world social democratic Christian democratic conservative and liberal traditions have affected populations health and quality of life in the western democracies The contributors also analyze the public and social policies derived from each of these political traditions that have affected levels of social inequality through changes in the welfare states and labor markets and on health and quality of life

The Birds of the Iberian Peninsula Eduardo de Juana, Ernest Garcia, 2015-02-26 This authoritative title is the definitive avifauna covering the Iberian Peninsula The Iberian Peninsula is one of Europe s most ornithologically varied regions offering a host of regional specialities It includes famous birding hotspots such as the Coto Dona a wetlands mountainous areas such as the Picos de Europa and the Pyrenees the Mediterranean cork and holm oak forests of the southwest the migration crossroads of the Strait of Gibraltar and the steppe like plains of Extremadura and Alentejo Large numbers of birders from around Europe visit the region to see this wealth of winged wildlife but to date there has been no comprehensive regional avifauna in English Birds of the Iberian Peninsula is a national avifauna that fills this gap in the ornithological literature Full colour throughout the book begins with authoritative introductory chapters covering subjects such as geography climate habitats the history of Iberian ornithology and the composition of the avifauna The species accounts then cover every species recorded in mainland Spain the Balearic Islands Portugal Gibraltar and Andorra including the many vagrants For each species there is detailed treatment of distribution with maps of breeding and wintering ranges habitat selection population trends historical and current status migration and
