McGlone,Mark L. Knapp,2009-03-15 During the past 30 years there have been a steadily increasing number of scientific and popular publications dealing with lying and deception Questions about the extent to which public officials are deceptive are standard fare in current magazines and newspapers This volume aims to present on a more precise conceptualization of this phenomenon manifested in some well known constructions like spin hype doublespeak equivocation and contextomy quoting out of context The contents of the volume have been generated for the New Agendas symposium at the University of Texas College of Communication and all the authors are young leading edge researchers offering innovative perspectives and explorations of lying and deception in various contexts This volume will appeal to scholars researchers and advanced graduate students in communication media and psychology It is written to the level of advanced undergraduates and it is appropriate for use in courses covering lying and deception African Languages in Classrooms and Academia: Intellectualisation and Empowerment through Formal Education Xolisa Tshongolo,2024-12-02 To date there have been few comprehensive books published which deal specifically with the role of African languages in academia and formal education Motinyane Mletshe and Tshongolo as editors have produced a book that fills this gap In this timely collection of 21 chapters written in African languages and English the contributors offer a critique of both language practice in the classroom as well as language planning policy creation and implementation challenges A timely and innovative contribution in the area of language in education teaching pedagogy as well as multilingualism Ideophones and the Evolution of Language John Haiman,2018-01-11 Ideophones have been recognized in modern linguistics at least since 1935 but they still lie far outside the concerns of mainstream Western linguistic debate in part because they are most richly attested in relatively unstudied often unwritten languages The evolution of language on the other hand has recently become a fashionable topic but all speculations so far have been almost totally data free Without disputing the tenet that there are no primitive languages this book argues that ideophones may be an atavistic throwback to an earlier stage of communication where sounds and gestures were paired in what can justifiably be called a prelinguistic fashion The structure of ideophones may also provide answers to deeper questions among them how communicative gestures may themselves have emerged from practical actions Moreover their current distribution and behaviour provide hints as to how they may have become conventional words in languages with conventional rules
