From Cowtown To Desert Metropolis:

From Cowtown to Desert Metropolis Roy P. Drachman, 1999 Native born Roy P Drachman gives a personal account of how Tucson southern Arizona and the entire state have grown and developed in his lifetime As a real estate developer community activist and philanthropist the author is able to provide a behind the scenes look at some of the changes

Cultural Encounters in the New World Harald Zapf, Klaus Lösch, 2003 Tucson John Warnock, 2019-10-11 This account of the drama in time that is Tucson begins not with the founding of the Presidio San Agustín on August 20 1775 but with the emergence of Sentinel Peak in geologic deep time It ends To be continued in 2014 It spans the periods of precontact with Europeans Spanish colonization Mexican nationhood the territorial West early and Depression era statehood and the development of metropolitan Tucson after World War II It offers not one definitive historical account but a collection of stories in which threads appear that may disappear beneath the surface for a while and reappear later like some desert streams It leaves spaces for and invites the stories of its readers About the Author John Warnock was born in Tucson and graduated from Tucson High when it was one of the largest high schools in the nation He attended Amherst College in Massachusetts Oxford University in England and the New York University School of Law After teaching at the University of Wyoming in Laramie he returned to Tucson in 1990 to join the English Department at the University of Arizona He is now Professor Emeritus at UA and resides in Tucson Tucson David Devine, 2025-08-28 At the 250th anniversary of Tucson's official founding on August 20 1775 the city is now an environmentally attractive if economically poor major college town with a large military base onto which numerous rapidly growing suburban communities have been grafted Tracing Tucson's history since the 1854 Gadsden Purchase brought Southern Arizona into the United States this book's second edition contains significant updates and revisions including extensive coverage of the 2015-2024 period Tucson has a remarkable American history and this book describes many of its highs and lows including its longstanding ethnic diversity and racial divides the contentious battle that secured the University of Arizona for the community its important ceremonial traditions and social customs and the significant challenges it faces going forward Additionally recollections of many of those who have helped make Tucson such a memorable place are included along with a review of the major accomplishments and shortcomings that Tucson has experienced since 1854 Wires That Bind Torsten Kathke, 2017-07-15 The arrival of telegraphy and railroads changed power relations throughout the world in the nineteenth century In the Mesilla region of the American Southwest it contributed to two distinct and rapid shifts in political and economic power from the 1850s to the 1920s Torsten Kathke illustrates how the changes these technologies wrought everywhere could be seen at a much accelerated pace here A local Hispano elite was replaced first by a Hispano Anglo one and finally a nationally oriented Anglo elite As various groups tried to gain hold and defend power the region became bound ever closer to the US economy and to the federal government La Calle Lydia R. Otero, 2016-10-01 On March 1 1966 the voters of Tucson approved the Pueblo Center Redevelopment Project Arizona's first major urban renewal project which targeted the most densely populated eighty acres in the state. For close to one hundred years Tucsonenses had created their own spatial reality in the historical predominantly Mexican American heart of the city an area most called la calle. Here amid small retail and service shops restaurants and entertainment venues they openly lived and celebrated their culture. To make way for the Pueblo Center's new buildings city officials proceeded to displace la calle's residents and to demolish their ethnically diverse neighborhoods which contends Lydia Otero challenged the spatial and cultural assumptions of postwar modernity suburbia and urban planning. Otero examines conflicting claims to urban space place and history as advanced by two opposing historic preservationist groups the La Placita Committee and the Tucson Heritage Foundation. She gives voice to those who lived in experienced or remembered this contested area and analyzes the historical narratives promoted by Anglo American elites in the service of tourism and cultural dominance. La Calle explores the forces behind the mass displacement an unrelenting desire for order a local economy increasingly dependent on tourism and the pivotal power of federal housing policies. To understand how urban renewal resulted in the spatial reconfiguration of downtown Tucson Otero draws on scholarship from a wide range of disciplines Chicana o ethnic and cultural studies urban history sociology and anthropology city planning and cultural and feminist geography.

GhostWest Ann Ronald, 2005-02-03 Our sense of place is permeated by ghosts from the past. In GhostWest Ann Ronald takes the reader to historical sites where something once happened. Using the metaphor of hauntings she reflects on how western history literature and lore continue to shape our visceral impressions of these sites. In chapters both lyrical and thoughtful passionate and humorous GhostWest covers sites in seventeen western states including the Little Bighorn Battlefield in Montana Willa Cather's Nebraska prairies and the Murrah Building bombing site in Oklahoma. Through these settings and their phantoms the author mulls questions of why we find such ambience and artifacts so compelling. Volume 7 in the Literature of the American West series.

Space in America, 2005-01-01 America's sense of space has always been tied to what Hayden White called the narrativization of real events. If the awe inspiring manifestations of nature in America Niagara Falls Virginia's Natural Bridge the Grand Canyon etc were often used as a foil for projecting utopian visions and idealizations of the nation's exceptional place among the nations of the world the rapid technological progress and its concomitant appropriation of natural spaces served equally well as David Nye argues to promote the dominant cultural idiom of exploration and conquest. From the beginning American attitudes towards space were thus utterly contradictory if not paradoxical a paradox that scholars tried to capture in such hybrid concepts as the middle landscape. Leo Marx an engineered New Earth Cecelia Tichi or the technological sublime David Nye. Not only was America's concept of space paradoxical it has always also been a contested terrain a site of continuous social and cultural conflict. Many foundational issues in American history the dislocation of Native and African Americans the geo political implications of nation building immigration and transmigration the increasing division and clustering of contemporary American society etc involve differing ideals and notions of space Quite literally space and its various ideological appropriations formed the arena where America's search for identity national political cultural has been staged If American democracy as Frederick Jackson Turner claimed is born of free land then its history may well be defined as the history of the fierce struggles to gain and maintain power over both the geographical social and political spaces of America and its concomitant narratives The number and range of topics interests and critical approaches of the essays gathered here open up exciting new avenues of inquiry into the tangled contentious relations of space in America Topics include Theories of Space Landscape Nature Technoscape Architecture Urban Utopia Literature Performance Film Visual Arts The Journal of Arizona History, 2014

Breathing Space Gregg Mitman, 2008-10-01 Allergy is the sixth leading cause of chronic illness in the United States More than fifty million Americans suffer from allergies and they spend an estimated 18 billion coping with them Yet despite advances in biomedicine and enormous investment in research over the past fifty years the burden of allergic disease continues to grow Why have we failed to reverse this trend Breathing Space offers an intimate portrait of how allergic disease has shaped American culture landscape and life Drawing on environmental medical and cultural history and the life stories of people plants and insects Mitman traces how America's changing environment from the late 1800s to the present day has led to the epidemic growth of allergic disease We have seen a never ending stream of solutions to combat allergies from hay fever resorts herbicides and air conditioned homes to numerous potions and pills But as Mitman shows despite the quest for a magic bullet none of the attempted solutions has succeeded Until we address how our changing environment physical biological social and economic has helped to create America's allergic landscape that hoped for success will continue to elude us Encyclopedia of Immigration and Migration in the American West Gordon Morris
