From Here To Here Stories Inspired By Londons Circle Line:

Underground Writing David Welsh, 2010-05-04 The purpose of this book is to explore the ways in which the London Underground Tube was mapped by a number of writers from George Gissing to Virginia Woolf From late Victorian London to the end of the World War II underground writing created an imaginative world beneath the streets of London The real subterranean railway was therefore re enacted in number of ways in writing including as Dantean Underworld or hell as gateway to a utopian future as psychological looking glass or as place of safety and security The book is a chronological study from the opening of the first underground in the 1860s to its role in WW2 Each chapter explores perspectives on the underground in a number of writers starting with George Gissing in the 1880s moving through the work of H G Wells and into the writing of the 1920s 1930s including Virginia Woolf and George Orwell It concludes with its portrayal in the fiction poetry and art including Henry Moore of WW2 The approach takes a broadly cultural studies perspective crossing the boundaries of transport history literature and London urban studies It draws mainly on fiction but also uses poetry art journals postcards and posters to illustrate It links the actual underground trains tracks and stations to the metaphorical world of underground writing and places the writing in a social political context From Here to Here John Simmons, Neil Taylor, Tom Lynham, Tim Rich, 2005 Taking inspiration from the 27 stops of the London Underground s Circle Line this collection of essays and poems provides a unique exploration of one of the world s great cities The Circle Line defines the heart of London and its stops are some of the most recognizable for visitors and locals alike Notting Hill Paddington Sloane Square South Kensington Westminster Twenty seven writers all of whom have a special love for London were selected and assigned one Circle Line station each They write about the under and above ground surroundings of the stations the histories of the locations and the cultural social commercial and political influences that have defined each famous place As a collection this celebration of the amazing diversity of London provides a guide of greater depth going beyond the monuments and buildings to the soul of the city Each writer s interpretation has its own style ensuring an experience of London that is enriching and unpredictable Twenty-six Ways of Looking at a BlackBerry John Simmons, 2009-04-01 Business writing can be particularly difficult to get right and far too many people resort to deathly dull jargon and nonsense buzz words to try to get their point across In 26 Ways of Looking at a BlackBerry John Simmons proposes that in order to create business communication that is truly engaging writing needs to be more expressive and adventurous Business speak undermines the communication objectives of brands as they try to move beyond respect to love This is now seen more and more as the imperative for young aspiring brands as well as big corporate brands The book explores ways that everyone involved with communicating a brand s values marketers advertisers PR people and so on can focus on the potential of language to reach their goals To illustrate this the author has taken a basic example of business writing and rewritten it in 26 different ways each following a constraint For example as a fairy story without using the letter e written in the style of Dickens as a letter to a friend as a six word story as a sonnet In each case Simmons looks at what effect that particular constraint has on the writing how it helps or hinders and what lessons can be drawn from the exercise that can be applied to business writing in different situations A unique and entertaining approach to business writing with some great advice to impart to help you get the most out of writing for business

26 Treasures John Simmons,2012-09-13 Imagine you re in a museum You might spot a gargantuan four poster bed that was a 16th century pub tourist attraction or a threadbare sackcloth robe worn in church by a 17th century adulteress Yet despite their rarity we often fail to engage with these extraordinary objects We simply nod and move on But it doesn t have to be that way Through its 26 Treasures project writers collective 26 is exploring how to create emotional connections between objects and individuals In 2010 London s Victoria Albert museum chose 26 objects from its British Galleries and randomly assigned them to 26 writers Each person wrote exactly 62 words 26 in reflection in response to the object The results were beautiful surprising lyrical sometimes comical Andrew Motion wrote about a bust of Homer a 17th century Chinese porcelain figure reminded a writer of a pub landlord in Inverness while the wedding suit of James 11 inspired 62 words about a suit as full of scratches as a rose garden In 2011 they took the idea to the National Library of Wales the Ulster Museum and the National Museum of Scotland where writers were let loose on objects as disparate as a mediaeval illuminated book a beggar s badge and a 16th century Scottish guillotine It seems that all writers and readers treasure connections with the past through objects personal ones and those displayed in museums There are more than a hundred writers involved in this collection including many of the best known literary authors in England Scotland Wales and Northern Ireland The result is an exquisite illustrated book where the 104 objects and their accompanying sestudes appear side by side
