Neville, 2009 The essays in this collection start with the premise that although race like class and gender is socially constructed all three categories have been shaped profoundly by their context in a capitalist society Race in other words is a historical category that develops not only in dialectical relation to class and gender but also in relation to the material conditions in which all three are forged In addition to discussing and analyzing various dimensions of the African American experience contributors also consider the ways in which race plays itself out in the experience of Asian Americans and in the very different geopolitical environments of the British Empire and postcolonial Africa Contributors are Pedro Caban Sundiata Keita Cha Jua David Crockett Theodore Koditschek Scott Kurashige Clarence Lang Minkah Makalani Helen A Neville Ibitola O Pearce David Roediger Monica M White and Jeffrey Williams Race, Work, and Family in the Lives of African Americans Marlese Durr, Shirley A. Spectres of 1919 Barbara Foley, 2010-10-01 A look at the violent Red Summer of 1919 and its intersection with the highly politicized New Negro movement and the Harlem Renaissance With the New Negro movement and the Harlem Renaissance the 1920s was a landmark decade in African American political and cultural history characterized by an upsurge in racial awareness and artistic creativity In Spectres of 1919 Barbara Foley traces the origins of this revolutionary era to the turbulent year 1919 identifying the events and trends in American society that spurred the black community to action and examining the forms that action took as it evolved Unlike prior studies of the Harlem Renaissance which see 1919 as significant mostly because of the geographic migrations of blacks to the North Spectres of 1919 looks at that year as the political crucible from which the radicalism of the 1920s emerged Foley draws from a wealth of primary sources taking a bold new approach to the origins of African American radicalism and adding nuance and complexity to the understanding of a fascinating and vibrant era
