

The background of the entire cover is a light blue gradient. It is decorated with horizontal bands of white and light blue silhouettes. These silhouettes represent a wide variety of human figures, including men, women, children, and people with disabilities (such as those using wheelchairs or crutches). The figures are arranged in groups, suggesting social interaction and community. The top band features larger, more distinct silhouettes, while the lower bands consist of smaller, more numerous figures.

Merali, Valerie Oosterveld, 2011-07-07 The Universal Declaration of Human Rights arguably the founding document of the human rights movement fully embraces economic social and cultural rights as well as civil and political rights within its text However for most of the fifty years since the Declaration was adopted by the General Assembly of the United Nations the focus of the international community has been on civil and political rights This focus has slowly shifted over the past two decades Recent international human rights treaties such as the Convention on the Rights of the Child and the Convention on the Elimination of All Forms of Discrimination Against Women grant equal importance to protecting and advancing nonpolitical rights In this collection of essays Isfahan Merali Valerie Oosterveld and a team of human rights scholars and activists call for the reintegration of economic social and cultural rights into the human rights agenda The essays are divided into three sections First the contributors examine traditional conceptualizations of human rights that made their categorization possible and suggest a more holistic rights framework that would dissolve such boundaries In the second section they discuss how an integrated approach actually produces a more meaningful analysis of individual economic social and cultural rights Finally the contributors consider how these rights can be monitored and enforced identifying ways international human rights agencies NGOs and states can promote them in the twenty first century

Music and Cultural Rights Andrew N. Weintraub, Bell Yung, 2024-04-22 Framing timely and pressing questions concerning music and cultural rights this collection illustrates the ways in which music as a cultural practice a commercial product and an aesthetic form has become enmeshed in debates about human rights international law and struggles for social justice The essays in this volume examine how interpretations of cultural rights vary across societies how definitions of rights have evolved and how rights have been invoked in relation to social struggles over cultural access use representation and ownership The individual case studies many of them based on ethnographic field research demonstrate how musical aspects of cultural rights play out in specific cultural contexts including the Philippines China Hawaii Peru Ukraine and Brazil Contributors are Nimrod Baranovitch Adriana Helbig Javier F Leon Ana Mar a Ochoa Silvia Ramos Helen Rees Felicia Sandler Amy Ku uleialoha Stillman Ricardo D Trimillos Andrew N Weintraub and Bell Yung

Collective Rights and the Cultural Identity of the Roma Claudia Tavani,2012-09-03 Is the use of mechanisms that only focus on the protection of individual human rights sufficient to protect the cultural identity of minorities Much more can be achieved by adopting a system that applies the principles of equality and non discrimination and encompasses the recognition of a collective right to cultural identity Culture and cultural identity are indeed important for the identification of groups and ethnicity But are the Roma an ethnic group Are they a minority In answering these questions Italy is used as a case study to illustrate the limits of non discrimination provisions and the need to recognise the collective right to cultural identity      The Human Right to Health Eduardo Arenas Catalán,2021-06-25 This timely book offers a fresh perspective on how to effectively address the issue of unequal access to healthcare It analyses the human right to health from the underexplored legal principle of solidarity proposing a non commercial understanding of the positive obligations inherent in the right to health      Compilation of Selected Adjudication on Housing Rights ,      The Idea of Home in Law Lorna Fox O'Mahony,James A. Sweeney,2016-03-03 The Idea of Home in Law Displacement and Dispossession explores an important set of legal and policy issues surrounding the concepts of home and homelessness taking a growing area of legal scholarship into the new arena of human rights and international law The collection considers the ideas concerning home both in the sense of the dwelling place as a special type of property and territorial claims to homeland which underpin many contemporary legal problems by examining a range of contexts where people are displaced or dispossessed from their homes The essays focusing on dispossession consider themes ranging from mortgage and rent arrears in the UK to responses to the foreclosure crisis in the USA and from eviction for the purposes of economic development in South Africa to the exclusion of asylum seekers from the UK s social housing and welfare provision and within the framework of the European Convention on Human Rights The displacement theme meanwhile examines transnational home issues from the experiences of exiles and refugees in areas of conflict to the impact of the broader context of economic social and cultural rights on attempts to protect housing and home through international law At the heart of each essay the contributors experts from across the fields of law policy and housing rights examine the circumstances in which displacement and dispossession take place and reconsider how law and policy respond to such circumstances with a particular focus on the impact of loss of home for the human person At a time of particular and increasing concern about security of tenure and the role of law and policy in protecting people who are vulnerable to forced eviction The Idea of Home in Law presents a bold opportunity to raise questions about the rights and norms associated with housing and home and to generate new insights for scholarship and for national and international policy debates concerning displacement and dispossession      Gender, Nutrition, and the Human Right to Adequate Food Anne C. Bellows,Flavio L.S. Valente,Stefanie Lemke,María Daniela Núñez Burbano de Lara,2015-12-07 This book introduces the human right to adequate food and nutrition as evolving concept and identifies two structural disconnects fueling food insecurity for a billion people and disproportionately affecting women children and rural food producers the separation of women s rights from their right to adequate food and nutrition and the fragmented attention to food as commodity and the medicalization of nutritional health Three conditions arising from these disconnects are discussed structural violence and discrimination frustrating the realization of women s human rights as well as their private and public contributions to food and nutrition security for all many women s experience of their and their children s simultaneously independent and intertwined subjectivities during pregnancy and breastfeeding being poorly understood in human rights law and abused by poorly regulated food and nutrition industry marketing practices and the neoliberal economic system s interference both with the autonomy and self determination of women and their communities and with the strengthening of sustainable diets based on democratically governed local food systems The book calls for a social movement led reconceptualization of the right to adequate food toward incorporating gender women s rights and nutrition based on the food sovereignty framework
