Raddatz, 2006 This paper contributes to explain the cross country heterogeneity of the poverty response to changes in economic growth It does so by focusing on the structure of output growth The paper presents a two sector theoretical model that clarifies the mechanism through which the sectoral composition of growth and associated labor intensity can affect workers wages and thus poverty alleviation Then in presents cross country empirical evidence that analyzes first the differential poverty reducing impact of sectoral growth at various levels of disaggregation and the role of unskilled labor intensity in such differential impact The paper finds evidence that not only the size of economic growth but also its composition matters for poverty alleviation with the largest contributions from labor intensive sectors such as agriculture construction and manufacturing The results are robust to the influence of outliers alternative explanations and various poverty measures Economic Reforms in Chile Ricardo Ffrench-Davis, 2002 An analysis of the neoliberal reform in Chile during the last thirty years OECD Economic Surveys: South Africa 2010 OECD, 2010-07-19 OECD s periodic review of South Africa s economy This edition features chapters covering moving beyond the crisis and finding a sustainable growth path strengthening the macroeconomic policy framework and closing the labour utilisation gap International Trade and Economic Development Rajat Acharyya, Saibal Kar, 2014 This graduate textbook offers advanced and contemporary readings in international trade and economic development and provides an overview of the fundamental topics in this area It brings together many of the issues that are considered staple reading for a course in trade and development and it offers a systematic coverage of the relevant and state of the art research on various aspects of the subject This includes detailed analysis of important sub topics such as trade and labour market trade and public economics the theory of the second best foreign aid factor mobility and regional and global welfare It also covers international trade and labour standards the

The Limits of Choice Sahra Wagenknecht, 2013-10-02 In The Limits of Choice Sahra Wagenknecht examines household saving decisions and basic needs in Germany and the United States based on official data from both countries from the 1950s to present day Arguing against the hypothesis that assumes consumers optimize their consumption intertemporally based exclusively on their permanent or lifetime income Wagenknecht proposes a rule of thumb according to which consumers will save if their current income exceeds basic expenditure while they will demand credit when income can no longer meet basic needs

The Economics of Saving James H. Gapinski, 2013-03-09 This book began when a letter reached my desk in November 1989 Written by Warren Samuels professor of economics at Michigan State University and editor for Kluwer Academic Publishers the letter reviewed the philosophy behind Kluwer's series on recent economic thought and accordingly expressed interest in the controversies that surround contemporary topics in the discipline It graciously went on to invite me to organize consonant with that philosophy a volume of chapters on saving Soon thereafter I learned that the chapters were to be original compositions I also learned that I would have substantial flexibility in structuring the volume and in recruiting contributors who logically would be authorities in the field Succinctly Samuels was inviting me to work with leading scholars in exploring the current controversies in saving one of my favorite subjects That invitation was simply too tempting to refuse Preparation of the book's outline went smoothly It was obvious that the statistics of saving should be covered along with the theories of saving It was equally obvious that special issues must be addressed Ricardian Equivalence supply side doctrine and economic development among others These themes should be handled so as to bring out the ideological tensions in the profession and that criterion helped to shape the list of potential contributors That is both sides of a conflict should be represented and both should be given the same treatment development Also an evaluation of external and internal shocks is taken using a comparative static type of analysis The models take into account constraints which are in the nature of institutional as well as supply constraints Problems of data exist in any quantitative analysis and account was taken of this factor in presenting the models and the results reached Nonetheless the models attempt to specify estimate and simulate a given macroeconomic system Models of this type are not freely available to the interested reader but only in a fragmented way This book puts the efforts of a group of economists worldwide under one cover It is believed that the collection will be of interest both for courses in planning and for those advising these countries such as international organizations research bodies etc Moreover an overview of trade policy and income distributional factors is presented It is hoped that this collection will prove interesting and useful to economists worldwide
