with our own hands we will speak our own minds Ralph Waldo Emerson The American Scholar 1837 From the start of transcendentalism and America's intellectual renaissance in the 1830s to the Civil War and beyond the story of four extraordinary friends whose lives shaped a nation Beginning in the 1830s coincidences that seem almost miraculous in retrospect brought together in Concord as friends and neighbors four men of very different temperaments and talents who shared the same conviction that the soul had inherent power to grasp the truth and that the truth would make men free of old constraints on thought and behavior In addition to Emerson a philosopher there was Amos Bronson Alcott an educator Henry David Thoreau a naturalist and rebel and Nathaniel Hawthorne a novelist This book is the story of that unique and influential friendship in action of the lives the friends led and their work that resulted in an enduring change in their nation's direction From the Prologue The Intelligence Office (Illustrated) Nathaniel Hawthorne, 2021 First published in the United States Magazine and Democratic Review XIV March 1844 The Intelligence Office is one of Hawthorne's more successful short allegories particularly noteworthy for the fact that it is here Ralph Waldo Emerson though disguised makes an appearance Hawthorne and Emerson although never close friends knew and liked each other They lived in the same town Concord Massachusetts for three years Hawthorne's wife Sophia was a Transcendentalist and an admirer of Emerson and the thirty-four-year-old Emerson some ten years before the Hawthornes moved to Concord composed Nature the foundational work of Transcendental movement in the same house The Old Manse where the Hawthornes would later live Nevertheless the great men's work had little in common Hawthorne dwelt in shadow Emerson lived in the light In The Intelligence Office Hawthorne creates a small host of shadows each seeking something from the grave figure with a pair of mysterious spectacles on his nose and a pen behind his ear The office itself seems to be a cross between a help wanted lost and found and a service which gives information and advice intelligence to people who have lost their way The grave figure is approached by many people a workingman looking for a tenement a young gentleman for a boarding house a woman for her vanished beauty an author for his once stellar reputation There is the eager soul who wishes to find my place in the world a young man and young woman who wish to give their hearts away to someone else the author hints they find each other not necessarily happily a mournful man who has lost the Pearl of Great Price an unscrupulous old business man who is willing to give a great estate to someone who will assume his moral burden a literal old devil looking for a new master and many more Then comes someone who looks something like Emerson Love Letters of Nathaniel Hawthorne, 1839-1863 Nathaniel Hawthorne, 1972 The Sister Years Nathaniel Hawthorne, 2012-09-18 Nathaniel Hawthorne born Nathaniel Hathorne July 4 1804 May 19 1864 was an American novelist and short story writer Nathaniel Hawthorne was born in 1804 in the city of Salem Massachusetts to Nathaniel Hathorne and the former Elizabeth Clarke Manning His ancestors include John Hathorne the only judge involved in the Salem witch trials who never repented of his actions Nathaniel later added a w to make his name Hawthorne in order to hide this relation He entered Bowdoin College in 1821 was elected to Phi Beta Kappa in 1824
