The Chinese and the Iron Road Gordon Chang, Shelley Fisher Fishkin, 2023-05-25 Essays examining the Chinese worker

experience during the construction of America's Transcontinental Railroad The completion of the transcontinental railroad in May 1869 is usually told as a story of national triumph and a key moment for American Manifest Destiny The Railroad made it possible to cross the country in a matter of days instead of months paved the way for new settlers to come out west and helped speed America's entry onto the world stage as a modern nation that spanned a full continent It also created vast wealth for its four owners including the fortune with which Leland Stanford would found Stanford University some two decades later But while the Transcontinental has often been celebrated in national memory little attention has been paid to the Chinese workers who made up 90 percent of the workforce on the Western portion of the line The Railroad could not have been built without Chinese labor but the lives of Chinese railroad workers themselves have been little understood and largely invisible This landmark volume explores the experiences of Chinese railroad workers and their place in cultural memory The Chinese and the Iron Road illuminates more fully than ever before the interconnected economies of China and the US how immigration across the Pacific changed both nations the dynamics of the racism the workers encountered the conditions under which they labored and their role in shaping both the history of the railroad and the development of the American West Praise for The Chinese and the Iron Road This timely and essential volume preserves the humanity of the often ignored and forgotten immigrant worker while also uncovering just how important Chinese American railroad workers were in the making of America and its place in the world Erika Lee author of The Making of Asian America Gordon H Chang and Shelley Fisher Fishkin's meticulously researched and beautifully written book fills a critical gap in our nation's history The Chinese and the Iron Road brings to life the stories of workers who defied incredible odds and gave their lives to unite these states into a nation David Henry Hwang Tony Award winning playwright of The Dance and the Railroad and M. Butterfly Destined to become the go to resource about Chinese railroad workers in the American West Madeline Hsu author of The Good Immigrants How the Yellow Peril Became the Model Minority Deeply researched and richly detailed The Chinese and the Iron Road brings to life the Chinese immigrants whose work was essential to the railroad's construction Thomas Bender author of A Nation Among Nations America's Place in World History

Confederate Veterans in Northern California Jeff Erzin, 2020-05-21 Drawing on six years of research this book covers the military service and postwar lives of notable Confederate veterans who moved into Northern California at the end of the Civil War Biographies of 101 former rebels are provided from the oldest brother of the Clanton Gang to the son of a President to plantation owners dirt farmers criminals and everything in between

In Pursuit of Gold Sue Fawn Chung, 2011-08-01 Both a history of an overlooked community and a well rounded reassessment of prevailing assumptions about Chinese miners in the American West In Pursuit of Gold brings to life in rich detail the world of turn of the century mining towns in the Northwest Sue Fawn Chung meticulously recreates the lives of Chinese immigrants miners merchants and others who populated these towns and interacted amicably with their white and Native American neighbors defying the common perception of nineteenth century

Chinese communities as insular enclaves subject to increasing prejudice and violence While most research has focused on Chinese miners in California this book is the first extensive study of Chinese experiences in the towns of John Day in Oregon and Tuscarora Island Mountain and Gold Creek in Nevada Chung illustrates the relationships between miners and merchants within the communities and in the larger context of immigration arguing that the leaders of the Chinese and non Chinese communities worked together to create economic interdependence and to short circuit many of the hostilities and tensions that plagued other mining towns Peppered with fascinating details about these communities from the intricacies of Chinese gambling games to the techniques of hydraulic mining In Pursuit of Gold draws on a wealth of historical materials including immigration records census manuscripts legal documents newspapers memoirs and manuscript collections Chung supplements this historical research with invaluable first hand observations of artifacts that she experienced in archaeological digs and restoration efforts at several of the sites of the former booming mining towns In clear analytical prose Chung expertly characterizes the movement of Chinese miners into Oregon and Nevada the heyday of their mining efforts in the region and the decline of the communities due to changes in the mining industry Highlighting the positive experiences and friendships many of the immigrants had in these relatively isolated mining communities In Pursuit of Gold also suggests comparisons with the Chinese diaspora in other locations such as British Columbia and South Africa

What Comes Naturally Peggy Pascoe, 2009-01-16 A long awaited history that promises to dramatically change our understanding of race in America What Comes Naturally traces the origins spread and demise of miscegenation laws in the United States laws that banned interracial marriage and sex most often between whites and members of other races Peggy Pascoe demonstrates how these laws were enacted and applied not just in the South but throughout most of the country in the West the North and the Midwest Beginning in the Reconstruction era when the term miscegenation first was coined she traces the creation of a racial hierarchy that bolstered white supremacy and banned the marriage of Whites to Chinese Japanese Filipinos and American Indians as well as the marriage of Whites to Blacks She ends not simply with the landmark 1967 case of Loving v Virginia in which the Supreme Court finally struck down miscegenation laws throughout the country but looks at the implications of ideas of colorblindness that replaced them What Comes Naturally is both accessible to the general reader and informative to the specialist a rare feat for an original work of history based on archival research

AB Bookman's Weekly, 1998

Nevada's Environmental Legacy James W. Hulse, 2009-02-28 Nevada's relatively brief history it became a state in 1864 has been largely a story of the exploitation of its natural resources Mining has torn down mountains and poisoned streams and groundwater Uncontrolled grazing by vast herds of sheep and cattle has denuded grasslands and left them prey to the invasion of noxious plant species and vulnerable to wildfire Clear cut logging practices have changed the composition of forests and induced serious soil erosion More recently military testing including hundreds of atomic blasts to determine the efficacy of nuclear weapons has irreversibly polluted expanses of fragile desert landscape And rampant development throughout the state over the past four decades along with the public's growing demand for recreational facilities has placed intolerable demands on the arid state's limited water resources and threatened the survival of numerous rare plant and animal species. Veteran historian and Nevada native James W. Hulse considers the state's complex environmental history as a series of Faustian bargains between the state's need for economic development and the industries, government agencies and individuals that have exploited Nevada's natural resources with little concern for the long-term consequences of their activities. His survey covers all these issues and examines public attitudes about the environment and the role of federal and state agencies in creating, interpreting and enforcing environmental policies. Healing in the History of Christianity Amanda Porterfield, 2005-08-25 Healing is one of the most constant themes in the long and sprawling history of Christianity. Jesus himself performed many miracles of healing. In the second century St. Ignatius was the first to describe the eucharist as the medicine of immortality. Prudentius, a 4th-century poet and Christian apologist, celebrated the healing power of St. Cyprian's tongue. Bokenham, in his 15th-century Legendary, reported the healing power of milk from St. Agatha's breasts. Zulu prophets in 19th-century Natal petitioned Jesus to cure diseases caused by restless spirits. And Mary Baker Eddy invoked the Science of Divine Mind as a weapon against malicious animal magnetism. In this book Amanda Porterfield demonstrates that healing has played a major role in the historical development of Christianity as a world religion. Porterfield traces the origin of Christian healing and maps its transformations in the ancient, medieval and modern worlds. She shows that Christian healing had its genesis in Judean beliefs that sickness and suffering were linked to sin and evil and that health and healing stemmed from repentance and divine forgiveness. Examining Jesus' activities as a healer and exorcist, she shows how his followers carried his combat against sin and evil and his compassion for suffering into new and very different cultural environments from the ancient Mediterranean to modern America and beyond. She explores the interplay between Christian healing and medical practice from ancient times up to the present, looks at recent discoveries about religion's biological effects and considers what these findings mean in light of ages-old traditions about belief and healing. Changing Christian ideas of healing, Porterfield shows, are a window into broader changes in religious authority, church structure and ideas about sanctity, history, resurrection and the kingdom of God. Her study allows us to see more clearly than ever before that healing has always been and remains central to the Christian vision of sin and redemption, suffering and bodily resurrection.

Women in Missouri History LeeAnn Whites, Mary C. Neth, Gary R. Kremer, 2014-03-03 Women in Missouri History is an exceptional collection of essays surveying the history of women in the state of Missouri from the period of colonial settlement through the mid-twentieth century. The women featured in these essays come from various ethnic, economic and racial groups from both urban and rural areas and from all over the state. The authors effectively tell these women's stories through biographies and through techniques of social history, allowing the reader to learn not only about the women's lives individually but also about how groups of ordinary women shaped the history of the state. The essays in this collection address questions that are at the center of current developments in the field of women's history but are written in a manner that makes them accessible to general readers Providing an excellent general overview of the history of women in Missouri this collection makes a valuable contribution to a better understanding of the state's past Journal of the West Lorrin L. Morrison, Carroll Spear Morrison, 1998 Book Review Index, 2003 Vols 8-10 of the 1965-1984 master cumulation constitute a title index The Railroad Trainman, 1899 Insane Sisters Gregg Andrews, 1999 In 1903 Atlas built a plant on the border of the small community of Ilasco located just outside Hannibal home of the infamous cave popularized in Mark Twain's most acclaimed novels The rich and powerful Atlas quickly appointed itself as caretaker of Twain's heritage and sought to take control of Ilasco However its authority was challenged in 1910 when Heinbach inherited her husband's tract of land that formed much of the unincorporated town site On grounds that Heinbach's husband had been in the advanced stages of alcoholism when she married him the year before some of Ilasco's political leaders and others who had ties to Atlas challenged the will charging Heinbach with undue influence Jacket Current Work in the History of Medicine, 1999
