Tatian's Diatessaron James W. Barker, 2021-10-28 In the late second century Tatian the Assyrian constructed a new Gospel by intricately harmonizing Matthew Mark Luke and John Tatian's work became known as the Diatessaron since it was derived out of the four eventually canonical Gospels Though it circulated widely for centuries the Diatessaron disappeared in antiquity Nevertheless numerous ancient and medieval harmonies survive in various languages Some texts are altogether independent of the Diatessaron while others are definitely related Yet even Tatian's known descendants differ in large and small ways so attempts at reconstruction have proven confounding In this book James W Barker forges a new path in Diatessaron studies Covering the widest array of manuscript evidence to date Tatian's Diatessaron reconstructs the compositional and editorial practices by which Tatian wrote his Gospel By sorting every extant witnesses according to its narrative sequence the macrostructure of Tatian's Gospel becomes clear Despite many shared agreements there remain significant divergences between eastern and western witnesses This book argues that the eastern ones preserve Tatian's order whereas the western texts descend from a fourth century recension of the Diatessaron Victor of Capua and his scribe used the recension to produce the Latin Codex Fuldensis in the sixth century More controversially Barker offers new evidence that late medieval texts such as the Middle Dutch Stuttgart harmony independently preserve traces of the western recension This study uncovers the composition and reception history behind one of early Christianity's most elusive texts
