Cinematic Appeals Ariel Rogers,2013-10-22 Cinematic Appeals follows the effect of technological innovation on the cinema experience specifically the introduction of widescreen and stereoscopic 3D systems in the 1950s the rise of digital cinema in the 1990s and the transition to digital 3D since 2005 Widescreen films drew the spectator into the world of the screen enabling larger than life close ups of already larger than life actors The technology fostered the illusion of physically entering a film enhancing the semblance of realism Alternatively the digital era was less concerned with manipulating the viewer s physical response and more with generating information flow awe disorientation and the disintegration of spatial boundaries This study ultimately shows how cinematic technology and the human experience shape and respond to each other over time Films discussed include Elia Kazan s East of Eden 1955 Star Wars The Phantom Menace 1999 The Matrix 1999 and Thomas Vinterberg s Dogme film The Celebration 1998

100 Nights in the Dark Joe Barlow,2000-12 Fed up with snooty film critics Then this is the book for you 100 Nights in the Dark is a collection of 100 humorous insightful film reviews and essays by renowned critic Joe Barlow Want the low down on a particular film before you pop it into your VCR Barlow tells you which recent films are worth seeing which you should skip and which will require years of painful therapy should you view them and he does it in the same playful irreverent style which has made him one of the Internet s most popular movie reviewers

The Horrors of Trauma in Cinema Michael Elm,Kobi Kabalek,Julia B. Köhne,2014-10-02 This volume explores the multifaceted depiction and staging of historical and social traumata as the result of extreme violence within national contexts It focuses on Israeli Palestinian German and US American film and reaches out to cinematic traditions from other countries like France Great Britain and the former USSR International and interdisciplinary scholars analyze both mainstream and avant garde movies and documentaries premiering from the 1960s to the present From transnational and cross genre perspectives they query the modes of representation regarding narration dramaturgy aesthetics mise en sc ne iconology lighting cinematography editing and sound held by film as a medium to visualize shattering experiences of violence and their traumatic encoding in individuals collectives bodies and psyches This anthology uniquely traces horror aesthetics and trajectories as a way to reenact echo and question the perpetual loops of trauma in film cultures The contributors examine the discursive transfer between historical traumata necessarily transmitted in a medialized and conceptualized form the changing landscape of clinical trauma theory the filmic depiction and language of trauma and the official memory politics and hegemonic national identity constructions
