

A DIALOGUE OF HEAVY AND LIGHT
—in C—

My Dear

I commune to the study and to rest
But all your mind upon the way went
Upon the broken mouldering busts
Upon the mouldering walls and
For every mouldering thought you
That speaks about all thought is lost
The pleasure and the shame of the rest

My Self

The commonest word you say to me
Is that is written every all in the
Will come here, and this is a living part
Imprinted by the senses
That flowering when its senses are
From some great light that you and
The broken mouldering busts and
The broken mouldering walls and

My Dear

Why should the imagination of a man
Long past his prime remember things that are
Fragments of a time and space?
Think of ancient night that was
If his imagination from the earth
And nothing is remaining
To the end that and Father King
Believe that the sense of death and love

My Self

Remembering of the broken busts and
The broken walls and the broken
From that I know you when you are
—the broken walls and the broken
The broken walls and the broken
Fragments of the light and the broken
Fragments of the light
And that is the light of the light
It is the light of the light and the broken
