Farming Technique from Prehistoric to Modern Times George Edwin Fussell, 1966 The History of Agriculture Britannica Educational Publishing, 2012-12-01 Agriculture that is using and managing natural resources has a long and complex history For thousands of years societies have relied on plants and animals for food and other items making agriculture as vital to their survival as it is to ours The cultivation of various crops and livestock over time and throughout the world are examined revealing the history behind and importance of much of the food we eat today Also covered are the techniques and equipment that have been developed over time to facilitate agricultural production Farming Techniques from Prehistoric to Modern Times G.E. Fussell, 1966 History of Technology Volume 4 A Rupert Hall, Norman Smith, 2016-09-30 The annual collections in the History of Technology series look at the history of technological discovery and change exploring the relationship of technology to other aspects of life and showing how technological development is affected by the society in which it occurred A Cultural History of Plants in the Early Modern Era Andrew Dalby, Annette Giesecke, 2023-12-14 A Cultural History of Plants in the Early Modern Era covers the period from 1400 to 1650 a time of discovery and rediscovery of experiment and innovation Renaissance learning brought ancient knowledge to modern European consciousness whilst exploration placed all the continents in contact with one another The dissemination of knowledge was further speeded by the spread of printing New staples and spices new botanical medicines and new garden plants all catalysed agriculture trade and science The great medical botanists of the period attempted no less than what Marlowe's Dr Faustus demanded a book wherein I might see all plants herbs and trees that grow upon the earth Human impact on plants and our botanical knowledge had irrevocably changed The 6 volume set of the Cultural History of Plants presents the first comprehensive history of the uses and meanings of plants from prehistory to today The themes covered in each volume are plants as staple foods plants as luxury foods trade and exploration plant technology and science plants and medicine plants in culture plants as natural ornaments the representation of plants Andrew Dalby is an independent scholar and writer based in France Annette Giesecke is Professor of Classics at the University of Delaware USA Volume 3 in the Cultural History of Plants set General Editors Annette Giesecke University of Delaware USA and David Mabblerley University of Oxford UK Progress in Agricultural Geography (Routledge Revivals) Michael Pacione, 2014-06-03 In the second half of the twentieth century significant changes were occurring within the agricultural industry including an increase in efficiency and government intervention as well as expanded and more complicated patterns of trade This comprehensive volume first published in 1986 reflects how these developments challenged the field of agricultural geography Considering agricultural innovations farming systems government policy and land ownership this title provides an essential background to students with an interest in agricultural methods distribution and reform Agricultural Revolution in England Mark Overton, 1996 This is a comprehensive and accessible survey of English agriculture between 1500 and 1850 written specifically for students Handbook of Medieval Studies Albrecht Classen, 2010-11-29 This interdisciplinary handbook provides extensive information about research in medieval studies and its most important results over the last decades The handbook is a reference work which enables the readers to quickly and purposely gain insight into the important research discussions and to inform themselves about the current status of research in the field The handbook consists of four parts The first large section offers articles on all of the main disciplines and discussions of the field The second section presents articles on the key concepts of modern medieval studies and the debates therein The third section is a lexicon of the most important text genres of the Middle Ages The fourth section provides an international bio bibliographical lexicon of the most prominent medievalists in all disciplines A comprehensive bibliography rounds off the compendium The result is a reference work which exhaustively documents the current status of research in medieval studies and brings the disciplines and experts of the field together Landscapes in History Philip Pregill, Nancy Volkman, 1999-01-25 The definitive one stop reference to the history of landscape architecture now expanded and revised This revised edition of Landscapes in History features for the first time new information rarely available elsewhere in the literature on landscape architecture in India China Southeast Asia and Japan It also expands the discussion of the modern period including current North American planning and design practices This unique highly regarded book traces the development of landscape architecture and environmental design from prehistory to modern times in Europe the Middle East Asia and North America It covers the many cultural political technological and philosophical issues influencing land use throughout history focusing not only on design topics but also on the environmental impact of human activity Landscape architects urban planners and students of these disciplines will find here The most comprehensive in depth and up to date overview of the subject Hundreds of stunning photographs and design illustrations A scholarly yet accessible treatment drawing on the latest research in archaeology geography and other disciplines The authors own firsthand observations and travel experiences Insight into the evolution of landscape architecture as a discipline Useful chapter summaries and bibliographies Climate Change Economics between Europe and China Qing Pei, 2021-11-02 This book is the first attempt to highlight the Great Divergence between Europe and China from the perspective of environmental change The author discusses the agrarian economy while considering the effects of climate change in both Europe and China at a long term scale The findings in the book supplement current knowledge and discussion on the Great Divergence across Eurasia The book further aims to empirically review the climatic impacts on the human community in the past as the relevant historical reference by which to understand human nature linkages in the current Anthropocene epoch The statistical analysis in the book will contribute to the development of relevant subjects such as environmental humanities quantitative history and historical geography The book thus is suitable to all levels of students undergraduate and postgraduate in the university In summary by combining multiple disciplines in both methods and knowledge this book becomes an interesting reference to students academic staff and even the general public It may also appeal to policymakers who aim to address the impacts of climate change according to past societal experiences

Beyond the Green Revolution Kenneth Dahlberg, 2012-12-06 This book which is the result of an intellectual odyssey began as an attempt to explore and map the environmental and cross cultural dimensions of the continuing spread of the green revolution that package of high yielding varieties of grain fertilizers irrigation and pesticides that constitutes the core of modern industrial agriculture In the process of traversing the terrain of several intellectual traditions and cutting through various disciplinary forests and thickets a number of striking observations were made all leading to two sobering conclusions First most intellectual maps dealing with agriculture fail to recognize it as the basic interface between human societies and their environment Because of this they are little better than the flat earth maps of earlier centuries in helping to understand global realities Second when agriculture is analyzed from a global perspective that takes evolution seriously one sees that the ecological risks as well as the energy and social costs of modern industrial agriculture make it largely inappropriate for developing countries Beyond that one can see a great need within industrialized countries to develop less costly less risky and more sustainable agricultural alternatives Early in the journey it became clear that conventional disciplinary approaches were inadequate to comprehend the scope and diversity of global agriculture and that a new multilevel approach was needed It also became clear that any new approach would have to try to correct certain Western biases and blind spots The
