Fashion Architecture:

The Fashion of Architecture Bradley Quinn, 2003 Architecture is making its presence felt in cutting edge fashion. The pliable metals, membrane structures, lightweight glasses and plastics used in building construction are creeping onto the catwalk. As they do so, their impact on recent textile developments has produced fabrics that enable clothing to act as individual climate-controlled environments that can exchange information with embedded sensors, resulting in wearable dwellings that act as both shelter and clothing. At the same time, architects are borrowing the techniques of pleating, stapling, cutting and draping from traditional tailoring to design buildings that are flexible, interactive, inflatable and even portable. Although the relationship between architecture and fashion was recognized more than a century ago, the connection between them has rarely been explored by historians, designers or practicing architects. The Fashion of Architecture is the first attempt to investigate the contemporary relationship between architecture and fashion in considerable depth by examining the ideas, imagery, techniques and materials used by visionaries such as Martin Margiela, Issey Miyake, Alexander McQueen, Tadao Ando and Daniel Libeskind. As mavericks ranging from Hussein Chalayan and Rei Kawakubo to Rem Koolhaas and Zaha Hadid describe architecture's role in the formation of fashion identities, new readings of both areas emerge. Probing and far-reaching in its content, The Fashion of Architecture is the most comprehensive study of this exciting area to date.

Fashion Thinking Fiona Dieffenbacher, 2013-01-07 The thinking behind a fashion collection is what sets one designer apart from another. Learning to push ideas forward to develop concepts and to challenge the status quo is what gives us some of fashion's greatest innovations. Yet students often struggle to develop their own style and approach to design. While the design process is fundamental to the way all fashion designers work, there is no right or wrong method; each emerging designer must find their own authentic process. By following nine award-winning student designers through their thought processes in response to a brief, Fashion Thinking establishes key approaches to design and encourages this process of discovery. Each student project represents a diverse range of strategies at each stage of the design cycle. By following each throughout their various stages of development, these examples offer a unique and inspiring insight into the thinking behind a final collection. Supported by beautiful imagery and illuminating perspectives from professionals throughout the fashion industry, Fashion Thinking is a book that no aspiring fashion designer should be without.

Staging Fashion Tiziana Ferrero-Regis, Marissa Lindquist, 2020-12-10 The fashion show and its spaces are sites of otherness representing everything from rebellion and excess through to political and social activism. This conceptual and stylistic variety is reflected in the spaces they occupy, whether they are staged in an industrial warehouse, on a city street or out in the open landscape. Staging Fashion is the first collection of essays about the presentation and staging of fashion in runway shows in the period from the 1960s to the 2010s. It offers a fresh perspective on the many collaborations between artists, architects and interior designers to reinforce their interdisciplinary links. Fashion architecture and interiors share many elements, including design history.

material culture aesthetics and trends The research and ideas underpinning Staging Fashion address how fashion and the spatial fields have collaborated in the creation of the space of the fashion show The 15 essays are written by fashion interior architecture and design scholars focusing on the presentation of fashion within the runway space from avant garde practices and collaboration with artists to the most spectacular and commercial shows of recent years from Prada to Chanel Design Culture Now Donald Albrecht, Ellen Lupton, Steven Holt, 2000-03 Written and assembled by three leading critics and curators Donald Albrecht Ellen Lupton and Steven Skov Holt the book explores the design artifacts and practices that will define the twenty first century BOOK JACKET 3D-Printed Body Architecture Neil Leach, Behnaz Farahi, 2018-02-01 Some architects dream of 3D printing houses Some even fantasise about 3D printing entire cities But what is the real potential of 3D printing for architects This issue focuses on another strand of 3D printing practice emerging among architects operating at a much smaller scale that is potentially more significant Several architects have been working with the fashion industry to produce some exquisitely designed 3D printed wearables Other architects have been 3D printing food jewellery and other items at the scale of the human body But what is the significance of this work And how do these 3D printed body scale items relate to the discipline of architecture Are they merely a distraction from the real business of the architect Or do they point towards a new form of proto architecture like furniture espresso makers and pavilions before them that tests out architectural ideas and explores tectonic properties at a smaller scale Or does this work constitute an entirely new arena of design In other words is 3D printing at the human scale to be seen as a new genre of body architecture This issue contains some of the most exciting work in this field today and seeks to chart and analyse its significance Contributors include Paola Antonelli MoMA Francis Bitonti Niccolo Casas Behnaz Farahi Madeline Gannon Eric Goldemberg MONAD Studio Kyle von Hasseln 3D Systems Culinary Lab Rem D Koolhaas Julia K rner Neil Leach Steven Ma Xuberance Neri Oxman MIT Media Lab Ronald Rael and Virginia San Fratello Gilles Retsin Jessica Rosenkrantz Nervous System and Patrik Schumacher Zaha Hadid Architects
