Smith, 2016-04-15 The single most influential culinary trend of our time is fast food It has spawned an industry that has changed eating the most fundamental of human activities From the first flipping of burgers in tiny shacks in the western United States to the forging of neon signs that spell out Pizza Hut in Cyrillic or Arabic scripts the fast food industry has exploded into dominance becoming one of the leading examples of global corporate success And with this success it has become one of the largest targets of political criticism blamed for widespread obesity cultural erasure oppressive labor practices and environmental destruction on massive scales In this book expert culinary historian Andrew F Smith explores why the fast food industry has been so successful and examines the myriad ethical lines it has crossed to become so As he shows fast food plain and simple devised a perfect retail model one that works everywhere providing highly flavored calories with speed economy and convenience But there is no such thing as a free lunch they say and the costs with fast food have been enormous an assault on proper nutrition a minimum wage labor standard and a powerful pressure on farmers and ranchers to deploy some of the worst agricultural practices in history As Smith shows we have long known about these problems and the fast food industry for nearly all of its existence has been beset with scathing exposés boycotts protests and government interventions which it has sometimes met with real changes but more often with token gestures blame passing and an unrelenting gauntlet of lawyers and lobbyists Fast Food ultimately looks at food as a business an examination of the industry's options and those of consumers and a serious inquiry into what society can do to ameliorate the problems this cheap and tasty product has created

The Quick serve - and fast-food Market in the restaurant industry in the United States. A short analysis Jessica Phillips, 2021-03-31 Academic Paper from the year 2021 in the subject Business economics Market research grade 98 course GEB 4905 language English abstract This paper represents a market analysis of the quick serve and fast food restaurant industry The restaurant industry is highly competitive there are currently 660 thousand restaurants in the U S the industry does have its barriers but it is not impossible to enter the market The barriers consist of large capital investment patents and trademarks state and federal regulations and high overhead costs These barriers are a moderate threat to new entries Because there are so many restaurants buyers have the power Restaurants must compete with each other to win the buyer The same thing is occurring to the suppliers of the restaurants There is always a cheaper and or simply just another supplier available This gives restaurants all of the power
